LEIPZIG IS POUNDED BY BRITISH BOMBERS

Fifth Army Makes Gains North of Volturno

AIR OFFENSIVE AGAINST REICH IS MAINTAINED

Big Attack on Great Industrial and Trade Centers Is Made as Planes Again Appear Over England

17 FAIL TO RETURN

London, Oct. 21.—(P)—A great fleet of RAF heavy night bombers, out for the eighth time this month, smashed at the Germans' second line of industrial defense last night, hitting the big city of Leipzig where many of the Reich's bombed-out industries have moved.

Mosquito bombers roared swiftly over the German capital for the third time this week while other bombers ranged over widespread areas of the Reich.

The RAF lost 17 bombers, the same number as in the last big raid on Hannover Monday. Eight bombers were lost in yesterday's raid by Flying Fortresses on the metal plants at Dueren. These losses indicated the Nazi destruction of 60 Fortresses over Schweinfurt a week ago may have been only a break of luck for the German defenders.

The big attack on Leipzig, un-bombed since its sixth raid of the war Nov. 23, 1940, came while the Germans, in sharp contrast, sent a tiny force of bombers over England to give London its fifth successive night alert and kill six persons with a handful of scattered bombs.

Leipzig, Germany's sixth industrial city, is situated in the middle of the country, 100 miles southwest of Berlin and almost on the Czechoslovak border.

It was the first big attack of the war on the city and represented a round-trip flight of more than 1,000 miles for the raiders.

With a population of more than 700,000, the city manufactures airplanes, munitions, chemicals, textiles, rubber products and machinery.

RAF Lancaster squadrons participated in the attack.

The American daylight assault on Dueren and the collateral bombing of Gilze-Rijen airbase in Holland which led the Leipzig attack yesterday in a round-the-clock double blow at Germany, brought out the largest escort of American fighters ever put up and was supplemented by RAF Spitfires.

The powerful guard took the lead out of the Germans' defensive attacks, returning after the Leipzig attack with an enthusiastic report of the results of the bombing. The Dueren metal works were described as "non-ferrous" with the implication that they were making important light metal airplane parts.

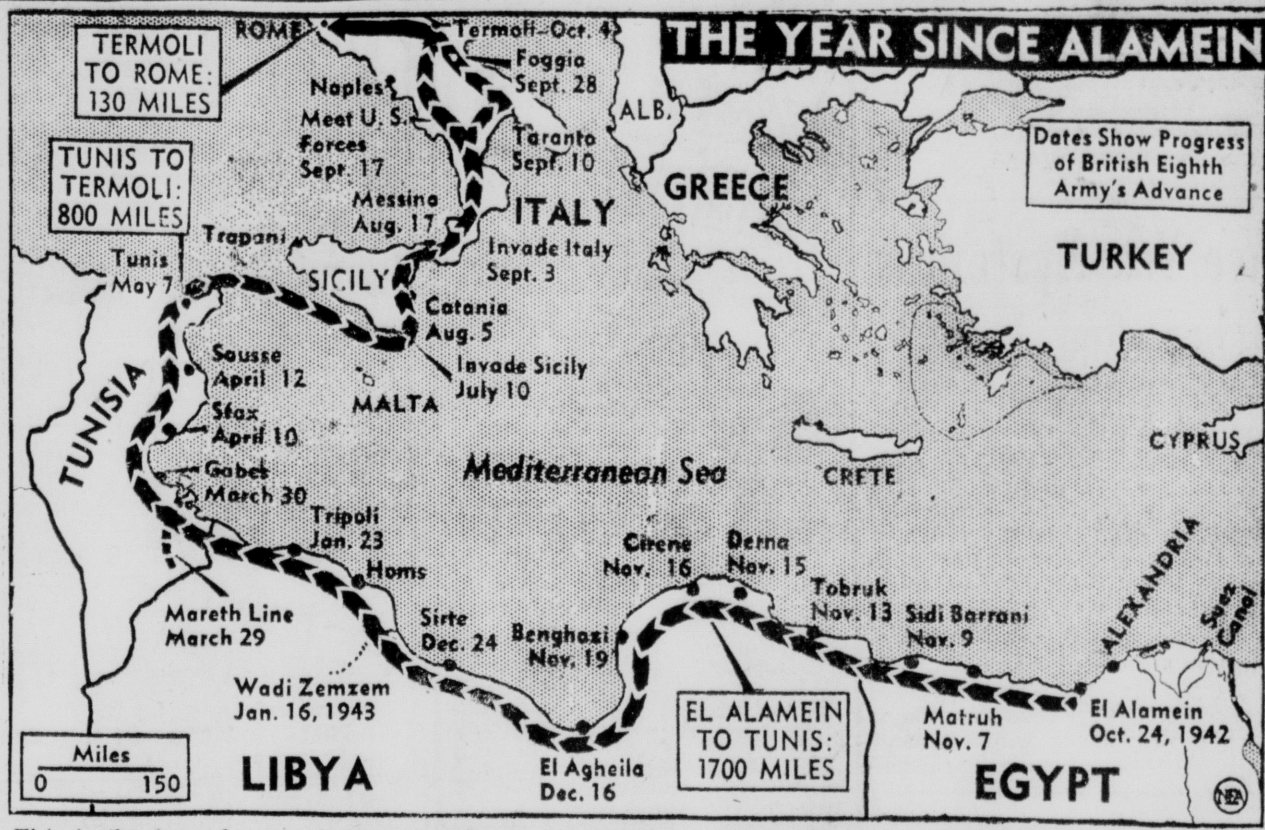

American Thunderbolts and AF Spitfires formed a virtual hornet's nest around yesterday's Leipzig attack, returning after the Leipzig attack with an enthusiastic report of the results of the bombing. The Dueren metal works were described as "non-ferrous" with the implication that they were making important light metal airplane parts.

Washington, Oct. 21.—(P)—Un- secretary of War Robert P. Patterson stoutly denied at a use military committee hearing today that War Department connecting officers are "inept and inefficient" and are "dishing out property and money of the United States with reckless abandon."

Washington, Oct. 21.—(P)—Visitation to repeal the Chinese Exclusion acts was steered today to the critical amendment stage by signs that opponents would stop all immigration to this country for the duration of the war.

Washington, Oct. 21.—(P)—As- sates of President Brown said he had "definitely made up mind to resign" as administrator of the Office of Price Administration (OPA).

Madrid, Oct. 21.—(P)—French (Turn to Page Ten)

This is the long, long trail that the British Eighth Army has traveled in a year, from Egypt almost to within sight of Rome. Backed against Suez in October, 1942, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's fighters cracked the Nazi line with a heavy attack outside El Alamein, and didn't halt in their pursuit of Rommel's Afrika Korps until they were in Tunis. Later the Eighth Army took one of the heaviest sides of the fighting in Sicily and was the first to invade Italy.

Strategy For Defense Will Be Continued

Civilian Protection Programs Will Be Aggressively Maintained

WARNINGS ARE ISSUED

Harrisburg, Oct. 21.—(P)—Defense leaders from all parts of Pennsylvania today carried home word from state officials that civilian protection programs will be aggressively maintained until victory comes.

"Civilian defense in Pennsylvania is not folding up or closing out until Mr. Hitler and Mr. Tojo have folded up," Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchison, director of the State Defense Council, told an all-day session of defense workers yesterday.

"Not until victory," he declared, "will we think of demobilizing. However, we may change our strategy from time to time."

Dr. Hutchison also reported a "good reaction" to the state council's recent announcement that it would hold no future surprise blackouts or daytime air raid drills.

Governor Martin sounded the same note, saying "we must be prepared" (Turn to Page Eleven)

CANADIAN PLANE WITH 26 ABOARD IS MISSING

Montréal, Oct. 21.—(P)—What was described by an air force official as "the biggest air search in the history of Canada" was pressed today for a missing Royal Canadian Air Force four-engine Liberator, believed to be carrying 26 passengers.

While no official statement has been made other than that the search is under way, it was reported the big ship was bound from an Atlantic port to Montreal and had last been officially checked over Quebec City.

ALABAMA MINERS ARE GOING BACK TO PITS

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 21.—(P)—A United Mine Workers spokesman predicted today a quick expansion of a back-to-work movement by thousands of idle Alabama coal miners.

"We expect a rapid improvement in the general picture immediately," said James H. Terry, UMW international representative, following a mass meeting of several hundred local union leaders.

Merging of Two C. O. Camps In the Area Being Planned

The Civilian Public Service conscientious objectors camps at Red Bridge, near Kane, and at Marienville, Forest county, will be merged into one unit "on or about November 1," Melvin Leasure, acting director of the Red Bridge camp, announced today.

Enrollment of the two camps has dropped steadily the past few months, Leasure said, due to assignment of the men to detached service, which includes work on farms and as attendants at state

Sow Missing 90 Days Loses 210 Pounds

Elizabeth, Oct. 21.—(P)—You'll have to take the word of Farmer Jesse Stephenson, R. D. 1, Elizabeth, Lincoln township, for this story:

Ninety days ago his 300-pound sow disappeared. Yesterday when he got her back, she weighed 90 pounds.

The animal had fallen into an 18-foot sink hole where she was discovered by Stephenson's dog and, during the three months, apparently had been living on weeds, coal and mud.

Proposed Coal Agreement Is Denounced

Washington, Oct. 21.—(P)—Appalachian soft coal operators went to bat today against the proposed portal-to-portal wage agreement between the United Mine Workers (UMW) and the Illinois Operators, calling it "radical" and "a subterfuge" in a hearing before the War Labor Board (WLB).

A capacity audience of operators from all points of the country, UMW officials, and spectators, was on hand. Thomas Kennedy, UMW secretary-treasurer, informed the board that John L. Lewis, president of the union, was confined to his home with a serious case of influenza.

A presidential conference with labor leaders and a War Labor Board hearing on a proposed soft coal agreement today underscored difficulties besetting the administration's wage controls.

With a possible railroad employees' strike ballot in the offing, and with labor leaders generally criticizing Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson's interpretations, President Roosevelt summoned his combined Labor War Board to the White House. This informal group (Turn to Page Eleven)

JAPANESE EXCHANGE SHIP SAILS FOR HOME

Mormugao, Portuguese India, Oct. 21.—(P)—The Japanese exchange liner Teia Maru sailed for Japan today with Japanese nationals repatriated from the United States and Latin America.

War Workers Hear How Soldiers Train

Indiantown Gap, Oct. 21.—(P)—Army officers barked orders at war workers today at the big military post here.

Twenty-seven industrial employees, seven of them women, came to the camp for a two-day visit to learn how soldiers train and work. They represent units of the Congress of Industrial Organization, the American Federation of Labor and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

"So far as we are concerned you are in the army as soldiers," the war workers were told by Capt. E. L. Grantham, public relations officer. He distributed army fatigue suits and assigned the men to infantry or engineering outfits and the women to a WAC unit.

Second Front Talk Hinted At Moscow

Tri-Partite Conference Digs Into Agenda in Harmonious Session

ADVISERS CALLED IN

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, Oct. 21.—(P)—The tri-partite conference dug into its agenda in a harmonious four-hour session yesterday, its long meeting to date, and the presence of American and British military advisers suggested that a land attack on western Europe might have been a topic.

Although all official representatives stuck to the rule that nothing about the actual conversations can be made public until the wind-up of the conference, they relaxed sufficiently to say that a cordial atmosphere prevailed throughout the second formal get-together.

Aides participating in the talks will change as the various problems wherein they are experts come before the conferees. The call yesterday to U. S. Maj. Gen. John R. Deane and British Lt. Gen. Sir Hastings Ismay to enter the closing meeting room left little doubt that the main topic on the agenda worked out the day before was military.

The Russian delegation called to the council rooms a high Red army general, Col. Gen. Filip I. Golikov, commander of the forces that captured Kharkov and head of a Soviet military mission to the U. S. in 1941.

Many of the conference decisions, it is understood, may become effective as soon as ratified by the respective governments, but others may go before yet another meeting of high leaders of the three nations.

PITTSBURGH DIOCESE HAVING ANNIVERSARY

Pittsburgh, Oct. 21.—(P)—Bishop Hugh C. Boyle will celebrate a solemn pontifical mass Monday at St. Paul's cathedral in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the Pittsburgh Catholic diocese. More than 600 priests are expected to attend.

The 375 churches of the diocese, with a total membership of 700,000 will hold solemn high masses during the three-week centenary observance.

VENANGO FARMER KILLED
Franklin, Oct. 21.—(P)—Clarence O. Proper, 56, farmer and dairyman, was killed instantly yesterday when the blade of a power-saw he was operating broke loose and struck him in the face, almost decapitating him. He was sawing logs at his farm near Chapmanville when the tragedy occurred.

DIVORCES INCREASING

Pittsburgh, Oct. 21.—(P)—Prothonotary William H. Frasier said divorce suits filed so far this year show an increase of 13 per cent over the same period in 1942. Records show 2,457 cases filed to October 1 this year, as compared with 2,139 in the same time last year.

GRAFT CASE NEARS END

Uniontown, Oct. 21.—(P)—Indications were that the fee "graft" case which started 18 days ago in Fayette county court may go to the jury today. Yesterday was devoted to arguments for the defense. The state will give its summation of the case today and Judge Horatio S. Dumbauld is expected to devote several hours to instructions.

MESSAGE ON SUBSIDIES IS BEING STUDIED

Indications That Delivery to Congress May Be Delayed Pending Further Review

DISPUTE IS RENEWED

BY OVID A. MARTIN
Washington, Oct. 21.—(P)—Prospective full-dress renewal of the dispute between the administration and the congressional farm bloc over general government use of subsidies to keep down food prices today awaited delivery of a presidential message on the subject to Capitol Hill.

There were indications, however, that the message might be further delayed for several days, pending a review of its contents by the agencies concerned.

Whether the subsidy issue is to be joined again may depend largely on the tone and contents of the message. However, President Roosevelt is expected to ask Congress to give to the War Food Administration a signal to proceed with the general use of food subsidies, at producer, processor, wholesale and retail levels.

Standing outside the government setup, but still a potent influence in this situation are the farm organization leaders, now generally opposing general subsidies, particularly at the wholesale and retail levels. This group feels a showdown can be avoided by compromise.

A stern message sharply criticizing opponents of food subsidies—and reports coming from the White House say that preliminary drafts were of that character—would in all likelihood touch off another fight just as was waged last summer. Then, congress passed legislation banning the subsidies and was unable to override a presidential veto.

Buffalo Dean Plans Visit To Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Oct. 21.—(P)—The Very Rev. Austin Pardue, of Buffalo, who on Tuesday was named bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Pittsburgh, will arrive here tonight to receive formal notification of his election.

The 44-year-old dean of St. Paul's Cathedral at Buffalo said it would be "a week or ten days" before he could make a decision on whether to accept the bishopric, adding, "I want to feel very sure I'm the man for the job and competent enough before I indicate my acceptance."

Dean Pardue, who gained national notice with a series of Monticello radio broadcasts, will if he accepts the offer succeed Bishop Alexander Mann, 83, who has announced his retirement for Jan. 1.

Today's visit will be Dean Pardue's first to Pittsburgh. He said, however, he would not be friendly here as he has many intimates among the local clergy, including Bishop Mann. Then, too, he said, (Turn to Page Eleven)

Forest Leads State In War Loan Drive

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—(P)—Thirty-eight of Pennsylvania's 67 counties went over the top in the Third War Loan Drive, a report as of October 18 showed today.

Forest county led with 205 per cent of its $259,000 goal, but Pike county was highest in individual purchases of series E bonds, reaching 200 per cent of its $77,000 allotment for that series.

Only seven counties exceeded their series E quotas—Pike, Clearfield, Forest, Fulton, Potter, Tioga and Wayne.

The state as a whole reached 112 per cent of its quota for all bonds, with total sales of $1,201,915.90, but only 776 per cent of its series E goal, with sales totaling $170,985.00.

Germans Reported Evacuating Crimea As Russians Drive Ahead To Cut Escape Route

By the Associated Press
London, Oct. 21.—(P)—The German armies in the Crimea have begun a mass withdrawal from the peninsula via the Perekop land bridge, Moscow advices indicated today, to escape entrapment by a powerful Russian advance threatening their line of retreat.

Battling furiously to stem the steady progress of the Red army troops pouring through the Kremenchug bridgehead west of the Dnieper river, the German command was said to be throwing all available reserves into the breach. But the Soviet drive, hourly increasing in momentum, smashed further to the west through the Ukrainian steppe country to overlap the Crimea on the north, a Russian communique disclosed.

A second Red army column was racing south toward Krivoi Rog, important rail junction and center of the south Russian iron industry, and today was reported to be within 35 miles of that key German stronghold guarding the last escape railway route from the Crimea.

More than 1,500 Nazis were slain in this advance, the Russian communique declared.

Capture of Krivoi Rog would virtually seal off the tens of thousands of Germans huddled in Dniepropetrovsk and in the Dnieper bend above Melitopol, where the Russians were reported to be methodically cleaning out last-ditch Nazi units who have been stubbornly holding out for more than a week.

AUSSIES WAGE BLOODY FIGHT IN NEW GUINEA

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Oct. 21.—(P)—Several thousand Japanese and Australian troops waged a bloody battle today in the jungle a short distance north of Finschhafen, New Guinea, with the enemy on the offensive.

The strongly-held positions at Sattelberg, 15 miles inland, the Japanese achieved some success in a drive to join another force on the coast and thus form a solid line along the Song river. The river mouth, toward which the enemy is on the move, is five miles north of Finschhafen.

This counter-offensive cost the Japanese more than 200 men Tuesday in fierce action against elements of Australia's famed Ninth Division which captured Finschhafen Oct. 2 and before that had gained battle glory at El Alamein in Egypt against the Germans.

The enemy took the initiative for the first time since General MacArthur, in a swift series of paratroop and amphibious pincer thrusts, began enveloping New Guinea bases from which it would be possible for him to invade New Britain.

It also was the first time in months that the opposing forces had come to grips in such a large scale, indicating Japanese determination not to continue further the withdrawals they made from Salamaua Sept. 12, Lae Sept. 16 and Finschhafen.

In the Solomons, a raiding force of more than 100 American planes added 17 more Japanese planes to the approximately 400 shot down or destroyed on the ground in the south and southwest Pacific within the past 10 days.

Chairman Frederick T. Gelder, of the Liquor Control Board, was immediately unavailable for comment on Senator Dent's letter.

DISTRICT IS MILLION OVER QUOTA IN DRIVE

Pittsburgh, Oct. 21.—(P)—Final figures in the Third War Loan drive, teamed by State Vice Chairman Robert H. McClintic "the most successful in history" in the 19-county Ft. Pitt area, showed the district exceeded its quota by $275,854.

Ten in every 15 persons bought bonds in the area. All but five counties went over the top. These failed by narrow margins and, McClintic said, "only because their industrial sales allotment had been set at an excessive figure."

Sales of the "people's bonds"—Series E—totaled $1,668,833.

Former High Grid Captain Is Killed In Action In the Pacific

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Scalise, 827 West Fifth avenue, have received word that their son, Pvt. Angelo A. A. Scalise, former Dragon football captain, was killed in action on New Georgia Island on July 25.

Direct word from the War Department came in a message to his wife, Angeline, who, with their only child, resides at 340 West 18th street, Erie. Mrs. Scalise had word in early August that her husband was reported missing in action as of the above date.

Graduated from the local high school, Pvt. Scalise was employed by the General Electric at Erie before entering the armed services on April 19, 1942. After serving four months with an infantry division at a camp in Mississippi, he was sent overseas, presumably to a station in the Solomon Islands.

In addition to his parents, wife and child, the young soldier leaves three sisters and two brothers: Mrs. Ida Chiricuzio, of Corry; Theresa, Mary Stella and Guy Riccardio of Warren; Cpl. Frank Paul Scalise, in a medical detachment at Miami Beach, Fla. His father is employed in the Aero Supply plant at Corry.

ALLIES SEIZE TWO TOWNS IN SOUTH ITALY

Gen. Montgomery's Troops Storm High Ground Dominating Road North from Vinchiatturo

BUSSO IS OCCUPIED

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Oct. 21.—(P)—The Fifth Army has made slight gains in the area north of the Volturno river, it was announced today, and advanced elements are probing the region to determine exactly where the Germans are setting up their new defenses based on Massico ridge.

The ditches and irrigation canals of this fertile, but now devastated, agricultural terrain slowed the progress of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's troops.

On the Eighth Army front, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's troops stormed the high ground dominating the road running northwest from Vinchiatturo, occupied Bussio, a mountain village about four miles due west of Campobasso, and swept into Oratino, a few miles to the north.

Bussio, situated 2,400 feet above sea level, overlooks Baranello to the south.

Stabbing deeper into the Balkans than on any previous fights, American medium bombers from Northwest African forces wrecked the roundhouse and locomotives at Nis, Yugoslavia, to lend an assist to the guerrilla forces fighting the Germans there.

Nis lies between Belgrade and Sofia and is an important junction through which the Orient express passes.

Railway objectives at Nis were left a mass of flaming wreckage by the American B-25 Marauders, escorted by P-38 Lightnings.

Occupation of the high ground west of Campobasso—given up by the Germans with great reluctance—was essential for movement of Gen. Montgomery's forces along the important road northwestward from Vinchiatturo toward the road and railway junction of Isernia.

Patrols were active in other parts of the Eighth Army front, including the Adriatic area above Termoli.

Wounded as the Germans may be by the long fight along the Volturno (Turn to Page Eleven)

Yugoslav Forces Extend Operations

London, Oct. 21.—(P)—Mobile columns of Yugoslav partisans have extended their offensive operations to widely scattered sections of Bosnia, Herzegovina and Montenegro and have inflicted heavy damage to German rail installations and supply depots, a communique of the Yugoslav Liberation Army said today.

The communique, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio and recorded by the Associated Press, reported that German units which attacked partisan positions around the town of Cetlje were driven back with severe losses by the Yugoslav Fifth Brigade.

Along the Dalmatian coast the Nazis were attacking in force around the towns of Sinj, Split and Trogir, the war bulletin said, while the patriots were battering their way toward Ston, in the same sector.

In eastern Croatia, the German-held town of Pacrac was stormed by guerrilla troops. Despite strong enemy resistance, the guerrillas captured a tank, 250 freight cars and three military trucks.

These figures, it was added, did not include "several thousand" men from the naval aircraft factory.

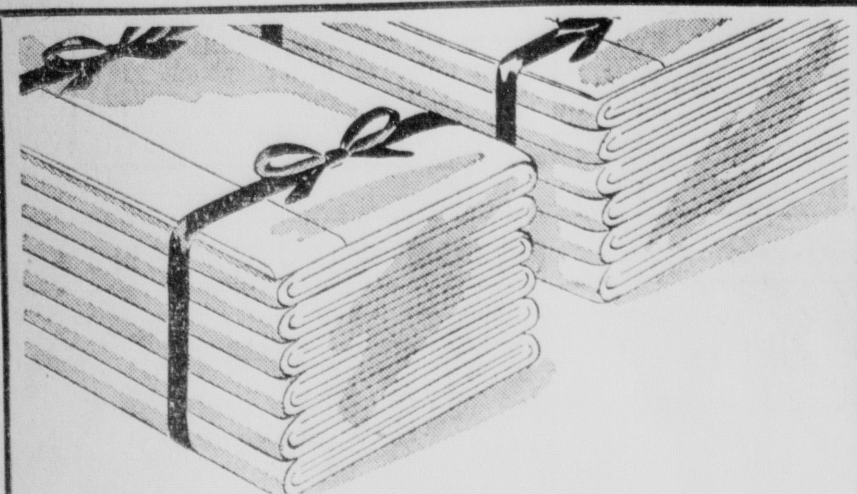

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Scalise, 827 West Fifth avenue, have received word that their son, Pvt. Angelo A. A. Scalise, former Dragon football captain, was killed in action on New Georgia Island on July 25.

Concerted Drive to Preserve Huge Potato Crop Launched

With this year's all time bumper crop of potatoes expected to reach over 60,000,000 bushels, William W. Walsh, War Food Administration Area Supervisor today announced a concerted drive to have consumers purchase and store potatoes for winter and spring use would begin October 21 and be continued through November 6.

The crop of potatoes now coming to market is by far the greatest in history and the same condition exists throughout the nation Mr. Walsh said.

The crop is so large that commercial storage facilities are not adequate to handle them, Mr. Walsh explained and said the campaign will be built around to an appeal direct to consumers to "Do as your grandmother did" and "store a bushel of potatoes for each member of your family". In this way the huge crop will be fully utilized and possibility of spoilage will be avoided.

He emphasized however that only those householders having proper facilities for storage should undertake to do so. "Generally speaking potatoes can be kept in any dry, ventilated place where the temperature does not rise or fall above 40 to 60 degrees and where the vegetables can be shielded from light. They are among the easy products to store," he said.

Warren Designated Battalion Headquarters of State Guard

Official word was received today that Warren was designated as Battalion Headquarters for the third Battalion of the Fourth Regiment, Infantry, of the Pennsylvania State Guards. The company, comprising the battalion will consist of new companies to be formed in Warren, Bradford and Kane.

With the formation of this new battalion, the former platoons will be expanded to consist of three companies of 73 men to each company. The Battalion will be headed by Arthur Dickinson, who was promoted from Captain to Major, and his Battalion staff will consist of Lts. Edward J. Ustach and Walter E. Confer.

The Warren platoon will be completely re-organized to form Co. I and will be headed by James V. Scalise with the rank of Captain. Scalise was a former member of old Co. I, 112th Inf. P. N. G., having served with the old National Guards for a period of 12 years. Capt. Scalise was commissioned 2nd Lt. in old Co. I in July 1925 and was commissioned 1st Lt.

June 26, 1926 and served in that capacity until his resignation in 1934. Capt. Scalise saw service in World War I from July 30, 1917 to Oct. 2, 1919. At the time of his discharge from the regular Army, he was given the Purple Heart Medal for wounds received in line of duty. The officers of the new Co. I will be appointed after the various candidates have successfully passed their examinations.

In designating Warren as the Battalion Headquarters for Co. I, 4th Pz. Inf., the Warren Platoon was doubly honored, in that it was permitted to become known once more as Co. I, a name which has already earned an honored record in both World Wars, and in recognition of the splendid record the Warren Platoon made since its organization in January 1942.

The Warren Platoon was first organized in January of 1942 by Arthur P. Dickinson, who was at that time a 2nd Lieutenant. It was attached to Co. C, with headquarters at Oil City. Upon the reorganization of the State Guards

Borough Is Rate A-No. 1 Financial Risk

Warren borough today is sitting pretty as far as its finances are concerned, he Borough bonds are listed as an A. No. 1 risk and investors gladly buy the bonds when they are offered. Too much credit for this condition cannot be given by the taxpayers to the members of Council and to the Finance Committee for some excellent, foresighted financing.

On December 31, 1942 the Borough of Warren had an outstanding bonded indebtedness of $202,000. During the past year by the purchase of bonds falling due the indebtedness has been reduced by $38,000. And in addition to this cut in the debt the Finance Committee has purchased with idle funds of the Sinking Fund $60,000 in Treasury Tax Notes and today there is approximately $31,000 in the cash balance of the Sinking Fund. This is a splendid showing as the borough as of today has approximately $31,000 on hand to apply against the indebtedness which really leaves the Borough only about $74,000 with which no funds are on hand at the present time to pay. However the Sinking Fund set-up will take care of this amount in the usual channels.

The showing is a splendid one of which all citizens of the borough may be proud.

This service is being rendered that the people of this community may enjoy the privilege of reading good books, and if any person or organization in the community wishes to donate books to the library, they are asked to in May 1943, Warren was then designated as company headquarters of Co. B with detached platoons at Kane and Bradford. During the summer encampment, the showing made by Co. B was so outstanding, that upon the expansion of the Pennsylvania State Guards, Warren was then chosen to become the battalion headquarters.

The present strength of the Warren company is 39, but with the orders to expand the company into a battalion, Warren is now authorized to receive 33 additional enlistments.

All those interested in enlisting in the Pennsylvania State Guards are urged to be present at the Armory next Tuesday and contact Capt. James V. Scalise.

GIVE ONCE AND FOR ALL

This is our war.

We have seen our men march away, we have lent our money to the government, we have endured personal sacrifices without very much complaint.

We have supported the USO, United Seamen's Service, United China Relief, British War Relief, Russian War Relief and other war-related philanthropies.

Now, in the National War Fund, we have an opportunity to give once for all. The National War Campaign is a joint appeal eliminating confusion and duplication.

We recognize the services of the National War Fund's seventeen member agencies to our fighting men, our merchant seamen, our men who are prisoners of war, to the refugees and the suffering peoples of the United Nations.

We are proud of the sound structure and the practical approach of the National War Fund to the huge task of hastening the end of the war, serving our boys and guarding the threatened nationalities of Europe.

We must support it with our efforts and our dollars.

MEMO TO SERVICE MEN

It may not be as generally known as it should be that service men of Warren and the county who are home on furlough are privileged to use the facilities of the Y. M. C. A. without membership or cost of any kind.

Many men in uniform avail themselves of the opportunity of using gymnasium, showers, swimming pool, or social and reading rooms of the "Y" while in the city, but there are many others who apparently are not aware of the fact that these pleasures are theirs for the asking.

President Howard Alexander of the Y. M. C. A. in pointing out this fact, suggested that parents and friends of local service men remind the latter of the opportunities offered by the "Y" while they are in the vicinity. There are not enough uniformed men in the city at any one time to require organized activities on a large scale, but as individuals, or in pairs or small groups, the service men find the "Y" facilities convenient and enjoyable. The only charge of any kind made to a service man is for the use of a Dormitory room, and that is given to him at half-rate.

The monthly Pre-Induction party, set-up to help prepare Selectees for examination, induction and training experiences, is a well-known activity. The next one of these events will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 9, for men called for examination in November.

"OLD MAESTRO" SIGNS OFF

The death of Ben Bernie at Beverly Hills, Calif., as chronicled in Wednesday's issue, takes from radio not only one of its pioneers but a dynamic personality, who, as the "Old Maestro," kidded himself, the products for which he broadcast or anything else handy.

Bernie started out in New York radio around 1923 before network days, and when the chains were formed, he and his band became one of their stand-bys. From 1930 there was hardly a season he didn't have a sponsor, and up to his last broadcast on January 15 this year he had more or less alternated between NBC and CBS. His last series, on CBS, was a five-day a week show with his band. He was forced to drop out because of ill health before the contract period was over.

Ben was credited with a number of radio "firsts", including a network transmission in 1923 between New York and Philadelphia, an attempted short-wave relay to Australia in 1942 and the use on the air of a theme song, his being "My Buddy".

No parent, man or woman in Warren county has a right to sit back and talk about the juvenile problem unless he has done something constructive to combat delinquency—one such activity is his presence at the PTA's public meeting at the high school here this evening, when Judge Allison D. Wade will talk about the youth problem from the court's viewpoint.

The Russians have broken through not only the Dnieper line, but Hitler's—to the effect that German troops would hold it at all costs.

In about two months every youngster will love a fat man—dressed up as Santa Claus.

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

Have respect therefore to the prayer of thy servant, and to his supplication, O Lord my God, to harken unto the cry and the prayer which thy servant prayeth before thee.—11 Chronicles 6:12.

More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of.—Tennyson.

Plenty of Seeds at Ceiling Prices in 1944

Price ceilings will be in effect on vegetable seeds for Victory gardens for 1944, and Secretary of Agriculture Wickard promised in his speech at Chicago's Victory Garden Festival that supplies would be ample.

In spite of the fact that the demand for seeds by amateur gardeners trebled last spring, no serious shortages developed, and prices of the packets, which contain quantities sufficient for home gardens, were not increased.

Announcement of point rationing started a rush on stores weeks before the normal date, and before stocks were fully distributed by wholesalers. But eventually all demands were met and no Victory gardener failed to get the seed he needed.

Next spring will find stores selling seeds prepared for an early demand, according to James A. Young, executive secretary of the American Seed Trade Association. "Facilities for handling a still further increase in demand have been prepared," said he. "Every one should realize that there is no reason for hoarding seed, or danger of rising prices or having to do without. And fortunately, there will be no reason for anyone using seed of doubtful quality, and taking a chance on losing his crop on that account."

All seeds sold in this country which cross state lines are subject to the federal law, which sets high standards of germination. Most states have laws on the same subject. These laws insure that no seeds so old as to have lost the power to grow are sold.

But there is another factor of the greatest importance to Victory gardeners, Mr. Young pointed out. "It is the quality of the vegetables which are produced by the seed; and in solving that problem great advances have been made in developing scientific breeding methods."

Use of home grown garden seeds has been obsolete in this country for fifty years, because of the deterioration taking place in the progeny, where the seed parents have not been properly selected for type, and protected against accidental crossing with other varieties. This deterioration is not shown in the appearance of the seed, but only becomes known when the crop is mature. It may be caused by cross pollination of two varieties, producing a mixture of types; or by harvesting seeds from inferior plants.

Methods of scientific accuracy can be used to cause a constant improvement in well bred strains, but to apply them requires thorough training in genetics, and long experience in the field. It is a rare amateur who is able to select from his garden, seeds which will insure him as good a crop as he grew this year.

"There are few crops which mature seeds in the garden in an ordinary course," said Mr. Young. "The early crops, such as lettuce, and radishes should be pulled up before making seed, to make room for other plantings, which will produce crops much more valuable than seed. Crops of which we eat the mature fruits, such as tomatoes, squash, and melons and those of which we eat the seed, such as beans, peas and corn, could be saved, but the risk of accidental crossing is present with all of them. The difficulties of saving home grown seeds are so many, and the risk of using them so great, that it is fortunate there is enough scientifically bred seed to go around."

...for giving up needless travel!

THOUSANDS of Americans, conscious of the vital part that transportation plays in victory, are giving up non-essential trips. That is genuine sacrifice, self-restriction symbolic of American determination to win this war.

Half the available Pullman cars and a third of all coaches are now in troop service. Those which are left are carrying an enormous volume of essential war and business travelers. Besides that, many thousands of service men on furlough and people going about the daily business of making a living are taxing available equipment to the limit. That kind of travel MUST come first.

With good grace there is almost universal acceptance of the fact that when no Pullman space is available the alternative is a coach; and when coaches are filled, the alternative to standing is to remain at home. For frankly, there is not room at all times for all who would like to travel.

Compulsory travel restrictions would restrain the few who consider personal convenience first, but by and large, plain horse sense and loyalty are making self-restriction work reasonably well. Americans in the vast majority who ask themselves conscientiously, "Is this trip necessary?" will not undertake any unnecessary journey at the expense of crowding out an essential traveler or a service man on leave for a few precious days at home.

To those who have refrained from "pleasure" travel in the interest of their fellow Americans and the war effort, the Pennsylvania Railroad acknowledges its appreciation. We know that in many cases it has not been easy, because it is human nature for Americans to "go places." But it is this spirit of cooperation that will help win this war.

How To Have A Warm House This Winter

AP Features

SHORTAGES of coal and fuel make it imperative that home owners get more heat from their available supplies this year. Ways of "heat-sealing"—keeping cold out and heat in—are relatively simple and inexpensive and in many cases the saving in fuel bills will defray the expense. The FHA lends money on easy terms to do the job. Here are seven tips by the WPB, showing how you can have a hot time in the old house this winter.

1.—HEAT-SEAL attic floor or roof. Blanket insulation strips can be put up easily.

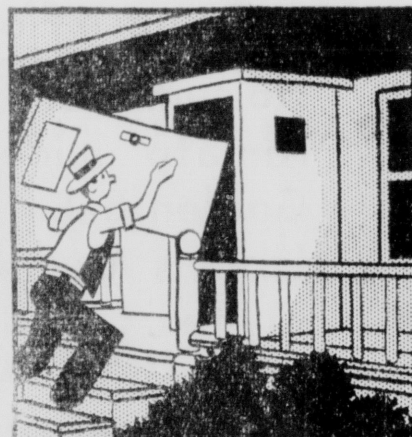

2.—WEATHERSTRIP doors and windows to prevent up to one-quarter of heat loss.

3.—CAULK CRACKS around outer walls of house. Stores sell caulking compounds.

4.—INSTALL STORM DOORS and windows to reduce great heat loss through glass.

5.—ERECT VESTIBULES to keep cold air out of house when persons enter.

6.—HEAT-SEAL ceilings of unheated basements. Close off rooms not regularly used.

7.—GET PROFESSIONALS to cover furnace with asbestos and insulate steam pipes.

Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat

Men like Bacon and Cabbage..Hearty Dish!

Haven't you heard men rave over corned beef and cabbage? Well, just let the man of your house try this delicious bacon and cabbage dish! It's wonderfully full of flavor. It's hearty and satisfying. It's the dish that gives that "well-fed" feeling . . . yet it takes less than one meat-point per serving.

It's so point-thrifty because it's made with Armour's Star Bacon . . . the rich, mild bacon that is sugared in its own juices . . . then slow-smoked over fragrant hickory and hardwood fires. So flavorful that its fine meat flavor extends through all the cabbage . . . makes just a little go a long way. And in this bacon and cabbage dish you need no butter (another point saving).

To prepare the dish, fry 4 or more slices of Star Bacon slowly until crisp. Remove slices. Add 2 tbsps. sugar and 2 tbsps. flour to bacon fat. Blend. Add 1/2 cup water and 1/3 cup vinegar gradually. Cook and stir until thick. Season. Cook cabbage in boiling water for 5 minutes. Drain. Pour sweet-sour sauce over cabbage. To serve, place crisp bacon slices on top of cabbage. Serves 4.

What It Means

By ROBERT M. FARRINGTON

WASHINGTON—U. S. munition production this year will not reach the $65,000,000,000 goal set for it, although it is expected to come very close, probably $62,000,000,000 anyway.

Failure to meet this goal does not mean that there will be a munition shortage or that American soldiers or sailors on any of our fighting fronts will be without arms to defeat the enemy.

For one thing, there is a recognized difference between the scheduled goal and the amount of equipment actually needed. War Production Board men have been fighting for "realistic" schedules for some time, protesting that the official schedules as put out by the various agencies are frequently nothing more than a mechanical rabbit, close enough to the greyhounds to keep them running, but too far ahead to ever be caught.

Dollar Yardstick

In addition, although using a dollar yardstick to measure production is more satisfactory than using numbers, weight or other method, it has serious shortcomings. One of these is that as a manufacturer succeeds in lowering his price per unit through efficiency and increased experience, it beats down the dollar-value goal.

For instance, 1,000 105-mm guns might be scheduled at $15,000 each. Once the guns are rolling off the production line, however, the cost drops to $11,500. On the overall schedule, this would show up as a $3,500,000 decrease although the quantity has been met fully.

The difference between the official schedules and the real need starts back where the critical materials, such as steel, copper and aluminum, are divided among the various claimant agencies (Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, etc.).

Since these agencies are competing against each other for limited quantities, they tend to go before the hard-boiled WPB Requirements Committee with higher demands than actually needed, so that they will still get what they need if their demands are cut.

If the Navy, for instance, asks for a huge quantity of steel for warships, it has to back this up with a schedule showing when and how many ships are to be delivered. If the quantity of steel is inflated, then the schedule of ships also has to be set higher than needed.

On top of this, Navy schedules are not meant to be realistic, but are purposely set high as an incentive for the shipyards.

Lack Of Realism

While this lack of realism does not affect the material allocation, it adds to the inflated schedule and results in continuous failure to meet the goals.

Aircraft schedules are another example of a goal never to be attained. They are deliberately put as much as 15 per cent out of reach so the manufacturer will try to exceed the estimated capacity of his plant. Aircraft schedules have been "revised" at least three times this year—downwards.

Schedules, therefore, are not a hard-and-fast total that must be met. That isn't to say they can be ignored or that producing impossible numbers of war weapons wouldn't help shorten the war. If it were possible to turn out say 10,000 Flying Fortresses a month, the war would be soon won; and the claimant agencies can usually whip up a good argument to justify their high demands.

Some way of measuring our progress in war production is necessary and schedules work fairly well within their limitations. The main danger is their too-literal acceptance as the key to our home-front effort. The battlefield results are perhaps the best indication of how good our production really is.

Four Girl Scout Troops Have Perfect Attendance At Meet

Four Girl Scout troops had a perfect score for adult attendance at the meeting of Girl Scout Troop 100 at the YWCA Tuesday evening, representatives of six other troops and Girl Scout Council members bringing the total attendance to 43, the largest number ever present at a meeting of this adult troop.

Members present were all from Warren and North Warren. Seven other Girl Scout troops in these towns were not represented. There are more than 20 troops in other communities of the county.

The purpose of the meeting was joint training of troop committee members and leaders in the art of working together to give Girl Scout troops the greatest possible satisfaction in participating in the skills and activities in the Girl Scout program.

The troop with the largest representation was Brownie Scout Troop 43 of Jefferson School with three leaders and four troop committee members. Girl Scout Troop 51 of Pleasant township and Brownie Troop 35 of North Warren were tied with two leaders and four committee members from the township and three leaders and

This troop is searching for an assistant leader.

Each of the winning troops will receive a year's subscription to the American Girl Magazine or other Girl Scout equipment to the value of $1.00 as an award from the training committee of the council. Membership badges in the Citizens' Service Corps of the Council of Defense were given to nine leaders and council members who have completed 50 or more hours of volunteer service to Girl Scouting since Pearl Harbor, as follows: Mrs. F. L. Abendroth, Mrs. C. M. Bannan, Miss Evelyn Boyd, Mrs. Bertha Hemmer, Mrs. Charles Hudson, Mrs. Marshall Morrow, Mrs. Paul Reynolds, Mrs. Robert Specht, Mrs. John Wolstencroft.

A skit in which the value of troop committees was demonstrated caused much merriment because of the wholehearted participation of the actors, Mrs. Harold Stohl, Mrs. Marshall Morrow, Mrs. R. W. Mackay, and Mrs. William Glassman played leading roles.

The next meeting of Troop 100 will be held January 25, 1944, at the Girl Scout Leaders' Association will meet in November and December.

HOUSE OF GOD BECOMES A HAVEN FOR WAR WOUNDED IN ITALY

Appropriately selected for a mission of mercy, an old Italian church at the gateway to Naples was chosen by Allied medical officers as the site of an emergency hospital. Here medical corpsmen carry the wounded into the church, and an Italian nurse dresses an American's head wound near the altar. Church at Chiunzi Pass was largest and cleanest building in the battle area.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Today's tour takes us into a pleasant little subdivision of the local bedlam ruled by a blonde darling labeled Belita—just Belita. Belita's own private bedlam.

Belita's o. p. b.—her dressing room at Monogram studios—stands off in a corner of a crazily busy sound stage where Belita's second starring movie, "Lady, Let's Dance," is in progress. Around the corner, on another stage, there's an ice rink, a New York skyline, the Statue of Liberty, and a flock of extras playing soldier. After lunch Belita will put on her skates and cut a frozen rug.

There is no other dressing room quite like Belita's. It's not one of these silk-lined portable palaces such as some studios use to house their stellar pets. It's two walls tacked at right angles to the corner walls of the stage. On the door is painted "Belita" and a big star.

WE STUMBLE our way to this door through a maze of carpenters tearing down yesterday's set. We knock, and four or five voices say "Come in" and there we are—in Belita's private bedlam.

Belita, blonde, tall, shapely even in slacks, is sitting on a high white stool before her make-up

The room is littered with everything, including people. "I love it," says Belita of the room. "It's just like a theater dressing room. Sit down," she challenges, so we duck under or around five comers or goers and move things from a corner chair and look around.

The walls are draped in mothy red velvet, with a small parade of ballet-dancing dolls pinned to it. "Costumes I wore on the stage," says Belita, who is 19, and has an impish grin. She says it around Freddie, the make-up man, who is grease-painting her. Freddie—he's Fred T. Walker, an old-timer—says to pardon his back.

BELITA explains that "Lady, Let's Dance" is half dancing and half skating, and that she's been dancing since she was one year old when she was a fairy in a Christmas play in her native England. She says she fell on her face on that occasion and has been repeating the performance ever since.

Just then a new girl comes in about Belita's lunch. "Eggs," she says, and then starts a search for a pan to cook them in.

We suggest looking behind the studio couch, and sure enough—there it is. Nobody seems surprised.

Chapter 4
SUNDAY was a perfect day. The unnatural sticky heat that had held the city in a vise for the past week had disappeared overnight, and April was back for a return visit. The breeze blew gently in from the Potomac.

Waiting for a street car in front of the executive mansion, Sally watched the guard standing stiffly with fixed bayonet. Against the sloping lawns and dignified columns of the stately building, he looked incongruous, as though he had walked in on a full dress ball in work clothes. Yet he was the symbol of the tension inside those lofty pillars.

Here was the nerve center of a world at war. Within the great doors sat men who decided when the bombers would unleash their loads on Germany, when the fleet would strike in the Pacific, whose son and whose brother would sail out of an unnamed harbor for an unnamed battlefield. Here weary men from the suffering countries of Europe described the agony of their people to the president of a free land.

"Just looking at it sort of gets you, doesn't it?" said a man to the woman with him on the street car platform next Sally.

"Yes, people may kid about patriotism, but that's what you feel when you look at it."

That's what Sally felt too, as the street car jerked its way down Pennsylvania Avenue toward the glistening dome of the Capitol, went past the two long House office buildings, by the green-roofed Library of Congress. A magnificent city, a city of power and prestige. She thought breathlessly. Mr. Lucky, so lucky to be here. Then the massive buildings were left behind and the route lay by slightly dingy brownstone homes and ordinary stores. Reality returned. Sally was room-hunting.

She had decided to look first over in Anacostia for her office was in the southwest section, and Anacostia would be convenient. Old-time Washingtonians turned up their noses at Anacostia, but it was a part of the city made flourishing and active by the tremendous influx of war workers. It was pretty too, for Pennsylvania Avenue ran uphill there at a sharp angle overlooking the river.

It was two o'clock when Sally located the first room for rent, as listed in the Sunday Star. But she evidently was a couple of hours late, for the room was already rented. The same story on her second and third choices. Curious, Sally asked the third landlady how her competitors did it. "Oh, that girl called me up and took the room without seeing it. She's on her way over here now with the first week's rent."

Sally felt a shiver of apprehension. If she had to hand over a week's rent, that left very little of the money Mother and Dad had advanced her. She would have to stretch it for a full week's meals and carfare, for pay day at the War Commission was a week away.

Next stop, at a dingy house hidden behind a huge sprawling apartment structure, the landlady said. "How many want this room?" Sally explained she was alone.

"I WOULDN'T consider renting to one person," was the decisive answer. "All my rooms are rented to at least two girls, and usually three or four. There's a double bed in the room for rent, and it wouldn't pay me to rent to one. I'm asking ten dollars for each girl."

Twenty dollars a week for a room in that dingy house. Sally felt sick. Why the woman was coining money. And how could the girls afford to pay prices like that? She had always heard Washington was an expensive place to live, but this was robbery. Carfare would cost her a dollar and a quarter a week for one of those combination street car-bus passes. She had thought she might be able to eat for a dollar a day, when she was planning a budget back in River Edge, but that was impossible. A dollar and a half was more like it, and even that meant she could never eat at an attractive restaurant, but would spend most of her time in government cafeterias and drugstores.

It was the same story all day long. By early afternoon Sally had exhausted the list of rooms in the paper. There weren't many possibilities when she had eliminated the ads of girls wanting to share their rooms. She took a tip from the landlady who had told her the girl taking the room had telephoned, and talked her way rapidly through ten nickels, eliminating ten rooms already rented. She bolted a milk shake in the drug store, to see her through the afternoon, and started out again.

By now she was getting worried. She was out in the northwest now, in a heavily populated area just off Dupont Circle which used to be fashionable, but now was filled with respectable rooming houses. But she wasn't doing any better here. She had walked for miles up and down streets, up and down steps of houses inspecting shabby rooms. Worst of all there was a gnawing worry inside her that threatened to dislodge the milk shake. What if I can't find a room? I won't have any place to stay. And I haven't money enough to get home.

DESPERATELY she opened the paper once more. The address of the top ad caught her eye. Sally had skipped it because it was another share-or-room ad. But she was standing almost in front of the exact number. Just to find sleeping quarters anywhere was a vital necessity.

She climbed the millionth pair of steps. A friendly-faced girl with curly black hair opened the door of 4B a crack, and said in a swift sentence, "Eight dollars a week half a double bed, no housekeeping privileges, share the bath with six others, don't come in if you're over thirty."

The tight ball of worry broke suddenly as Sally laughed. It was as unreal as Mack Sennett humor, but it was friendly. In a flash Sally accepted, and was accepted. "Typical government girls, that's what we are," said the curly haired girl perching on one end of a brass bed that absorbed a quarter of the room. The tall moved swiftly back and forth among the four girls. Where do you come from, where do you work?

In a daze from weariness and relief, Sally thought how like sorority this was. The girls had sized her up and hadn't blackballed her. She belonged. Room hunting was over.

Major League Clubs Again To Train In Camps In the North

BY BUCKY O'CONNOR
 Chicago, Oct. 21.—(P)—Despite a mild back-to-sunny climes movement inspired the past ten weeks by various groups, major league baseball clubs again will conduct spring training north of the "Landis-Eastman line."
 Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis' terse announcement to that effect yesterday ended speculation that any of the big league ball clubs would return to their warm southern haunts for conditioning. The "Landis-Eastman" line decree, formulated a year ago by Commissioner Landis and ODT Director Joseph B. Eastman, to ease the strain on rail travel, restricted clubs to areas north of the Ohio and the Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi.

 As though trying to beat the commissioner to the draw, the Chicago Cubs and White Sox, in a joint statement, announced they would return to French Lick, Ind., where last year they contended with cold, rain, snow and flood tides but came home intact and in fairly good condition.
 A few hours later the St. Louis Cardinals announced they would return to their Cairo, Ill., camp, while the Browns said they again would be at Cape Girardeau, Mo., for spring training. St. Louis

Penn Coach Denies Team "Laying It On"

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—(P)—Reports from New York that the University of Pennsylvania is "laying it on" against Ivy league teams this fall drew an indignant denial from Coach George Munger said last night.
 "We're not trying to run up scores on anybody," Munger said. "I don't feel that either team benefits from such a game. On the other hand, it's not football to kick on first down or try for a field goal when a touchdown may be scored."
 Discussing Penn's 47-9 victory over Princeton and 41-7 drubbing of Yale, which apparently drew the criticism, Munger pointed out, "We cleared the bench in both games, and any time a substitute gets into a game, he's in there to do all he can."
 Murks show the Red and Blue used 11 ends, six tackles, nine guards, three centers and eleven backs against Princeton and 10 ends, six tackles, seven guards, three centers and 14 backs against Yale.
 "You can look back at the records and find where in the past both Princeton and Yale have scored as high as 80 points against us," Munger added. "We probably could have run up that many against them if we were trying to lay it on."
 As for reports that Columbia was in for "the same treatment" Saturday, "we're going over there to play a game and win if we can. We'll be lucky to win," said Munger.

Warren Fans Keyed for Game Against Bradford Saturday At 2:30 P. M. on Russell Field

The local high school football Dragons have two days to go until their clash with their ancient rivals, the Bradford Owls, and they're primed already to test everything the McKean county lads can offer them.
 J. B. Leidig, mentor of the Blue and White, has put the outfit through tough drills all week to iron out a few flaws he found in last week's victory over Franklin.
 If ever the locals and their supporters were "in the groove," it's for this battle, with a record crowd expected to be out Saturday cheering Warren to its 6th win of the year.
 Reports haven't divulged as yet whether Warren's star punter, Gerald Vesling will see action this week or not, but Byron Tome, reserve halfback for Warren may be back after his back injury in the Oil City game. He's been out for several practice sessions this week.
 Both sides of the battle are keyed up to a fever pitch, with Bradford reluctant at all times to see their boys take a beating, they never like to see the Dragons handing it out to them, and a record out-of-town attendance is expected to fill their side of the field this year.
 All the color of football is the dish for Warren and fans from the vicinity at 2:30 Saturday a. m. and with Harry Summer's brilliant band supplying plenty of music over intermitted periods, the gridiron sport will bow out, as far as home games are concerned, on Russell Field Saturday.

CONEWANGO CLUB
 The Peerless Pettibones won three points from Creal's Creepers in the Conewango Club last evening. Davis, for the Creepers, had high single with 209, while Conar came through in the third with a 203 games. The team totals:
 Creals 854 6776 720 2221
 Pettibones 748 819 760 2327

The Purpose: The first report meeting of the Warren County United War Fund campaign for $88,700.

As the zero hour for the all-important first report meeting draws near, Edward W. Every single one of the employees of all these five organizations have subscribed to the fund. They are as follows: The Warren Borough Schools, Pennsylvania Electric Company, J. C. Penney Company, Warren Tank Car Company, United Lumber and Individual workers will make their reports to Section Chairmen; Section Chairmen to Division Chairmen; and Division Chairmen to the General Committee. All workers, whether from the County or the Borough, are urged to be there and promptly at 7:30 so that, if possible, the meeting may be concluded within one hour.

The United War Fund drive to raise $88,700 is the largest in more than a quarter of a century in Warren county. It began on Monday, October 18 and closes on Thursday, October 28. $39,700 of the total quota goes to the 17 national agencies including the U. S. O., Russian Relief, Seaman's Aid, and so forth. $49,000 remains at home for Community Chest and county agencies.

You May Never Have To Take Another Laxative

Most constipated people might be as regular as clockwork—if it were only quit worrying—stop being nervous—take more exercise—watch their diet—and get up mornings an hour or so earlier to give bowels time to act. But who can or wants to do all this?

So—the next best thing is to keep the bowels working as regularly and comfortably as we can—and that's where good old Espotabs come in. Why?

Because you may take Espotabs at night and expect results in the morning when you get up without waiting around—because they do not move the bowels so violently as to leave you feeling weak and washed out.

AND because they help the grand, comfortable, satisfying type of movement that makes the spirit soar—and what sour, constipated person could ask for more? Get Espotabs at your drugstore today and take as directed, 25c.

FORMER FIRST BRITISH SEA LORD PASSES AWAY

London, Oct. 21—(P)—Admiral of the Fleet Sir Dudley Pound, who resigned early this month as First British Sea Lord because of ill health, died today in London at the age of 66.

Sir Dudley directed the British fleet through four of its most critical war years and is credited with shaping more than any other man the course of Britain's modern naval policy.

He was taken ill while returning from the Churchill-Roosevelt conference at Quebec. He resigned as first sea lord Oct. 4 and was succeeded the next day by Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham, who had been commander of British naval forces in the Mediterranean.

SUIT AGAINST ERIE FIRM

Pittsburgh, Oct. 21—(P)—Proceeding under the second war powers act, the government yesterday filed a triple damage suit for $32,126.49 against the Erie Iron & Supply Corp. of Erie. The complaint alleges that between October 31, 1942, and August 13, 1943, the firm sold wire and wire shorts in carload quantities and less at prices in excess of OPA maximum delivered prices to the amount of $10,708.83.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Sylvia Lind, aged 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lind, 3 East street, had a narrow escape from serious injury this morning about eleven o'clock when she fell out of an automobile operated by her father when the door open accidentally while the car was turning into a driveway near the home. The most serious injury sustained by the child was a bad bump on the forehead.

HORST DECLARES FEED SITUATION CRITICAL

Harrisburg, Oct. 21—(P)—Miles Horst, secretary of agriculture, told the Pennsylvania State Veterinary Medical Association today that "the feed situation in Pennsylvania is becoming more serious every day."

"It will be more serious in 1944," the secretary declared in a prepared speech, and pointed out, "ever grain crop raised in Pennsylvania this year, with the exception of buckwheat, is below 1942 production."

Horst told delegates to the group's 61st annual meeting, "The quality of livestock and poultry feeds now available is getting poorer all the time and in some cases it has become necessary to provide an additional 50 per cent or more of feed to maintain production."

Fifty-six of the approximately 200 species of ducks, geese and swans are found in the U. S.

Irvingdale PTA on Tuesday evening.
Attendance was unusually high.
After the meeting, a group singing

Clifton Larson at the piano. Announcements were made concern-

For the program, Audrey Brownell played two piano selections, children of room five taught

"Safety First" and Curtis Valentine played several accordion numbers. To conclude, the committee served refreshments.

Andrews and Levine Point Out Need of Women Workers

K. M. Andrews, a member of the Management-Labor Advisory Council of the local Manpower Commission is genuinely alarmed at the labor outlook in this city.
In commenting on the situation

David Levine

here today he said: "Few who are not in touch with the situation prevailing in Warren plants can realize just what is happening to the manpower here. Shops are tendance award went to Miss Dundie's room.

Superintendent John G. Rossman gave a fine talk on "War's Challenge to the School" and special music was provided in two vocal solos "Tommy, My Lad" and "Travelin'" by Everett Borg, accompanied by his wife; also a violin duet, "Plantation Melody", played by Joyce Ettinger and Jeanine Mathyer, with piano accompaniment by Miss Frances Peterson. To conclude, refreshments were served by mothers of first grade pupils, Mrs. C. J.
Maeder and Mrs. C. Berglund in charge.

A piano of radically new con-being badly pinched for help and if the women of the community fail to come forward and take the places of the men production will be curtailed and the war effort slowed down. Reports reaching our committee from other cities of the country show that Warren county women have failed to grasp their opportunity to back up their menfolk in the armed forces. It is not only the patriotic thing to do but the women will be well paid while they are turning out munitions and supplies for their loved ones at the war front.

Mr. Andrews has had years of experience with Warren county industry and he knows whereof he speaks. At the present time a crisis is being reached in local war industry and seven plants right now are appealing for women workers. Most of the women will be needed within a short time,
November 1st to be exact. Others can be added a little later but 300 are needed within 30 days.

Manager David Levine, of the Federal Employment office today said when seen by a Times-Mirror representative: "We are meeting a fine response at present and yesterday and today enrolled about 100 women for places in the plants while some others have taken the application blanks home to discuss the matter in their own home circle. However that is only about one-third of what we will need before Nov. 15th. And the end of the demand will not be reached then as I know from discussing the situation with manufacturers that there must be about 600 women available for employment before December 15th. The draft is asking great inroads into the ranks of Warren county workers."

In bulletin No. 173 of the U. S.
Department of Labor attention is called to the fact that women are working in all but 30 of the various trades allied with the war effort. The WLB has upheld the contention that equal pay for equal work should be the rule in all plants where women are engaged in work and it is also drawn to the attention of the women that they must abide by the stabilization orders the same as men.

Yesterday a number of women employed out of the city signed up for work in Warren plants.
They can secure availability certificates to transfer to home town plants and many will do so as their savings on board and room, car fare, etc., will give them an advantage in working in Warren.
The fact that many spend much time getting to and from work is also entering into their calculations and it is anticipated that many of the 300 women now working in Corby will come home and take places here where they are so drastically needed.

Home Town Honors General by Doubling Bond Sales

Emporium, Pa., Birthplace of Lt. Gen'l McNarney, Brings Him Back for Giant Birthday
Party—Sales on War Bonds Boom as Tribute to Community's No. 1 Hero

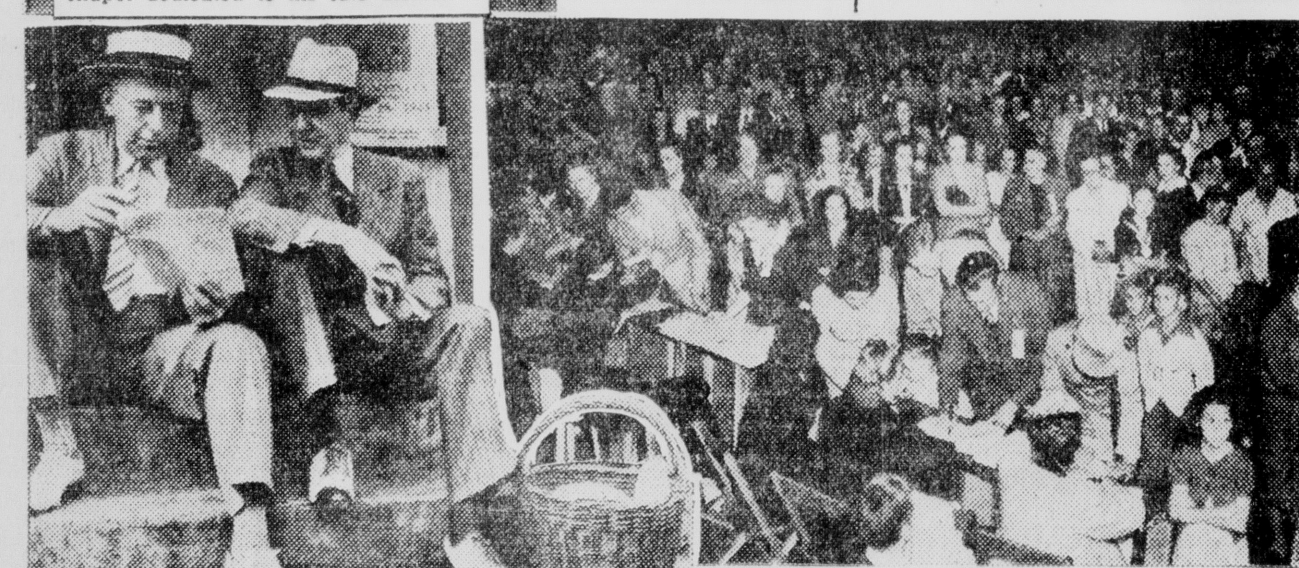

News-worthy feature of the street parade was the sight of the deputy chief of staff of the U. S. Army marching with his first military outfit, the Boys Brigade, in which he was a sergeant in 1908.

A quiet interlude in the General's homecoming was a visit to the Sunday School chapel dedicated to his late mother.

Back in the old red brick schoolhouse General McNarney found the very desk where, 35 years ago, he carved the initials JTM.

Hundreds of autograph books bearing the signature of the army's deputy chief of staff will become cherished mementos.

An informal last-minute sidewalk conference between District Attorney Ed Tompkins, chairman of the Gen'l McNarney Day Committee, and B. G. Erskine, chairman of the board of Sylvania Electric Products, the town's major industry.

In tribute to their home-town hero, the 3,900 residents flocked to a bond rally closing the celebration, and doubled their pledge by buying $103,568 worth of War Bonds.

EMPORIUM, PA. — Joseph T. McNarney was born here 50 years ago. Now a Lieutenant General and deputy chief of staff of the U. S. Army, he was invited home for the biggest birthday party in the history of Emporium. Every store in town was closed while the entire population of 3,900 paraded, listened to talks and band-concerts and showed their pride in the "home town boy who made good" by buying War Bonds. By midnight the town had doubled sales by chalking up bond sales of $103,568.

General McNarney re-visited his old school room,
and members of his first military unit, a Boys Brigade Company, with which he marched after reviewing the parade. He addressed a record crowd and signed autographs until his wrist ached. Advised of the tremendous bond sales at the birthday party tendered him at the executive clubhouse of the town's chief industry, the Sylvania electric radio tube plant, the General told his townfolk: "You couldn't have given me a nicer birthday present."

The extra sales, added to the substantial sum obtained through the company's payroll deduction plan, helped make Cameron County first county in the Third Federal Reserve District to pass its quota.

AIR OFFENSIVE AGAINST REICH IS MAINTAINED

17 FAIL TO RETURN

London, Oct. 21.—(P)—A great fleet of RAF heavy night bombers, out for the eighth time this month, smashed at the Germans' second line of industrial defense last night, hitting the big city of Leipzig where many of the Ruhr's bombed-out industries have moved.

Mosquito bombers roared swiftly over the German capital for the third time this week while other bombers ranged over widespread areas of the Reich.

The RAF lost 17 bombers, the same number as in the last big raid on Hannover Monday. Eight bombers were lost in yesterday's raid by Flying Fortresses on the metal plants at Dueren. These losses indicated the Nazi destruction of 60 Fortresses over Schweinfurt a week ago may have been only a break of luck for the German defenders.

The big attack on Leipzig, un-bombed since its sixth raid of the war Nov. 23, 1940, came while the Germans, in sharp contrast, sent a tiny force of bombers over England to give London its fifth successive night alert and kill six persons with a handful of scattered bombs.

Leipzig, Germany's sixth industrial city, is situated in the middle of the country, 100 miles southwest of Berlin and almost on the Czechoslovak border.

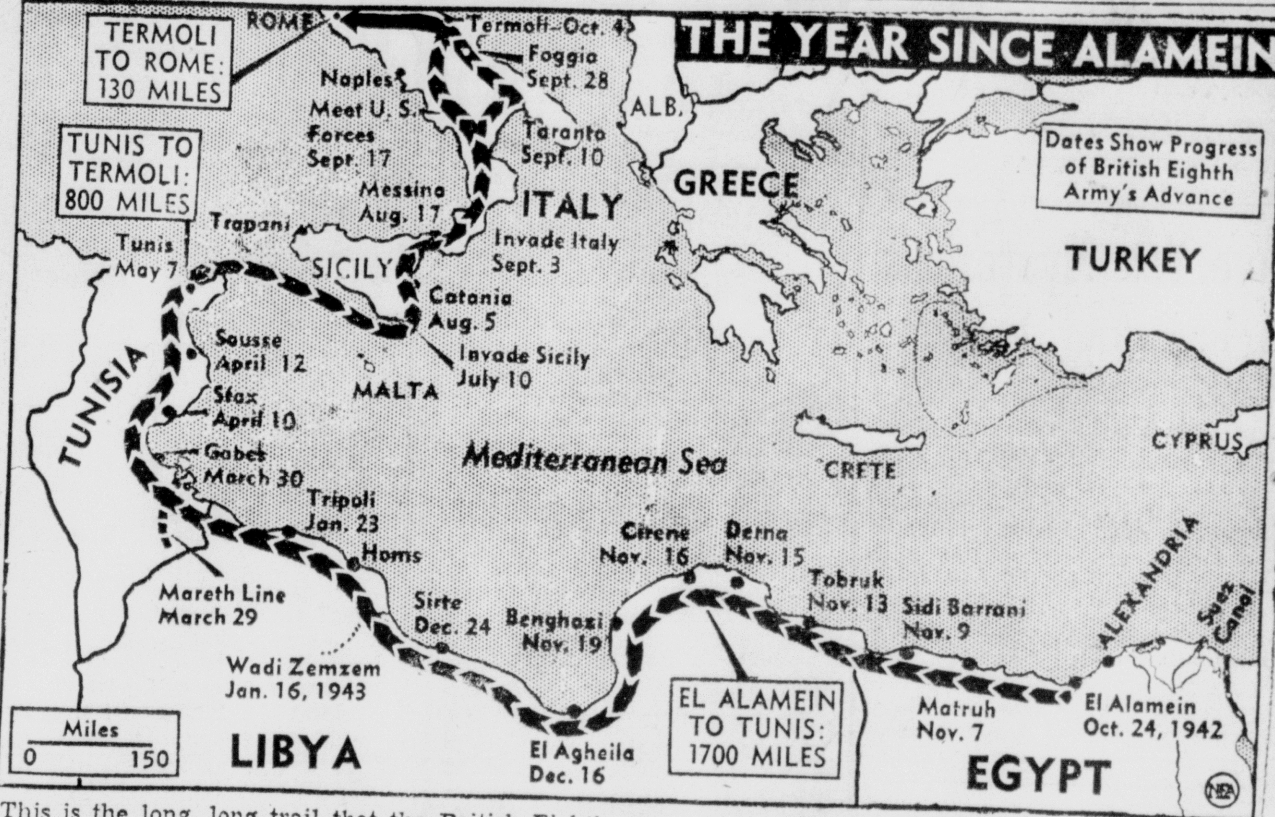

It was the first big attack of the war on the city and represented a round-trip flight of more than 1,000 miles for the raiders. With a population of more than 700,000, the city manufactures airplanes, munitions, chemicals, textiles, rubber products and machinery.

RAF Lancaster squadrons participated in the attack. The American daylight assault on Dueren and the collateral bombing of Gilze-Rijen airbase in Holland which led the Leipzig attack yesterday in a round-the-clock double blow at Germany, brought out the largest escort of American fighters ever put up and was supplemented by RAF Spitfires.

The powerful guard took the lead out of the Germans' defensive attacks, returning fliers in an enthusiastic report of the results of the bombing. The Dueren metal works were described as "non-ferrous" with the implication that they were making important light metal airplane parts.

American Thunderbolts and AF Spitfires formed a virtual comet's nest around yesterday's Flying Fortress formations and the enemy had little opportunity to repeat the tactics that knocked the record number of 60 bombers from the fleet sent against Schweinfurt.

Goetborg, Sweden, Oct. 21.—(P)—The exchange of approximately 900 wounded British Canadian and Australian soldiers and 14 Americans for a similar number of German invalids was completed today with the sailing of three hospital ships for Britain and two for Germany.

This is the long, long trail that the British Eighth Army has traveled in a year, from Egypt almost to within sight of Rome. Backed against Suez in October, 1942, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's fighters cracked the Nazi line with a heavy attack outside El Alamein, and didn't halt in their pursuit of Rommel's Afrika Korps until they were in Tunis. Later the Eighth Army took one of the heaviest sides of the fighting in Sicily and was the first to invade Italy.

Strategy For Defense Will Be Continued

Civilian Protection Programs Will Be Aggressively Maintained

WARNINGS ARE ISSUED

Harrisburg, Oct. 21.—(P)—Defense leaders from all parts of Pennsylvania today carried home word from state officials that civilian protection programs will be aggressively maintained until victory comes.

"Civilian defense in Pennsylvania is not folding up or closing out until Mr. Hitler and Mr. Tojo have folded up," Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchison, director of the State Defense Council, told an all-day session of defense workers yesterday.

"Not until victory," he declared, "will we think of demobilizing. However, we may change our strategy from time to time."

Dr. Hutchison also reported a "good reaction" to the state council's recent announcement that it would hold no future surprise blackouts or daytime air raid drills.

Governor Martin sounded the same note, saying "we must be" (Turn To Page Eleven)

CANADIAN PLANE WITH 26 ABOARD IS MISSING

Montreal, Oct. 21.—(P)—What was described by an air force official as "the biggest air search in the history of Canada" was pressed today for a missing Royal Canadian Air Force four-engine Liberator, believed to be carrying 26 passengers.

While no official statement has been made other than that the search is under way, it was reported the big ship was bound from an Atlantic port to Montreal and had last been officially checked over Quebec City.

ALABAMA MINERS ARE GOING BACK TO PITTS

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 21.—(P)—A United Mine Workers spokesman predicted today a quick expansion of a back-to-work movement by thousands of idle Alabama coal miners.

Sow Missing 90 Days Loses 210 Pounds

Elizabeth, Oct. 21.—(P)—You'll have to take the word of Farmer Jesse Stephenson, R. D. 1, Elizabeth, Lincoln township, for this story: Ninety days ago his 300-pound sow disappeared. Yesterday when he got her back, she weighed 90 pounds.

The animal had fallen into an 18-foot sink hole where she was discovered by Stephenson's dog and, during the three months, apparently had been living on weeds, coal and mud.

Proposed Coal Agreement Is Denounced

BY JOSEPH A. LOFTIS
Washington, Oct. 21.—(P)—Appalachian soft coal operators went to bat today against the proposed portal-to-portal wage agreement between the United Mine Workers (UMW) and the Illinois Operators, calling it "radical" and "a subterfuge" in a hearing before the War Labor Board (WLB).

A capacity audience of operators from all points of the country, UMW officials, and spectators, was on hand, Thomas Kennedy, UMW secretary-treasurer, informed the board that John L. Lewis, president of the union, was confined to his home with a serious case of influenza.

A presidential conference with labor leaders and a War Labor Board hearing on a proposed soft coal agreement today underscored difficulties besetting the administration's wage controls.

With a possible railroad employees' strike in the offing, and with labor leaders generally criticizing Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson's interpretation, President Roosevelt summoned his combined Labor War Board to the White House. This informal group (Turn To Page Eleven)

JAPANESE EXCHANGE SHIP SAILS FOR HOME

Mormugao, Portuguese India, Oct. 21.—(P)—The Japanese exchange liner Teia Maru sailed for Japan today with Japanese nationals repatriated from the United States and Latin America.

(The Gripsholm, aboard which the Japanese were brought here, was expected to sail later in the week with American nationals who arrived in Mormugao on the Teia Maru.)

Second Front Talk Hinted At Moscow

Tri-Partite Conference Digs Into Agenda in Harmonious Session

ADVISERS CALLED IN

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, Oct. 21.—(P)—The tri-partite conference dug into its agenda yesterday, its long meeting to date, and the presence of American and British military advisers suggested that a land attack on western Europe might have been a topic.

Although all official representatives stuck to the rule that nothing about the actual conversations can be made public until the wind-up of the conference, they relaxed sufficiently to say that a cordial atmosphere prevailed throughout the second formal get-together.

Aides participating in the talks will change as the various problems wherein they are experts come before the conferees. The call yesterday to U. S. Maj. Gen. John R. Deane and British Lt. Gen. Sir Hastings Ismay to enter the closing meeting room left little doubt that the main topic on the agenda worked out the day before was military.

The Russian delegation called to the council rooms a high Red army general, Col. Gen. Filip I. Golikov, commander of the forces that captured Khar'kov and head of a Soviet military mission to the U. S. in 1941.

Many of the conference decisions, it is understood, may become effective as soon as ratified by the respective governments, but others may go before yet another meeting of high leaders of the three nations.

PITTSBURGH DIOCESE HAVING ANNIVERSARY

Pittsburgh, Oct. 21.—(P)—Bishop Hugh C. Boyle will celebrate a solemn pontifical mass Monday at St. Paul's cathedral in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the Pittsburgh Catholic diocese. More than 600 priests are expected to attend.

The 375 churches of the diocese, with a total membership of 700,000 will hold solemn high masses during the three-week centenary observance.

War Workers Hear How Soldiers Train

Indianapolis Gap, Oct. 21.—(P)—Army officers barked orders at war workers today at the big military post here.

MESSAGE ON SUBSIDIES IS BEING STUDIED

Indications That Delivery to Congress May Be Delayed Pending Further Review

DISPUTE IS RENEWED

BY OVID A. MARTIN
Washington, Oct. 21.—(P)—Prospects for the full-dress renewal of the dispute between the administration and the congressional farm bloc over general government use of subsidies to keep down food prices today awaited delivery of a presidential message on the subject to Capitol Hill.

There were indications, however, that the message might be further delayed for several days, pending a review of its contents by the agencies concerned.

Whether the subsidy issue is to be joined again may depend largely on the tone and contents of the message. However, President Roosevelt is expected to ask congress to give to the War Food Administration a signal to proceed with the general use of food subsidies, at producer, processor, wholesale and retail levels.

Standing outside the government setup, but still a potent influence in this situation are the farm organization leaders, now generally opposing general subsidies, particularly at the wholesale and retail levels. This group feels a showdown can be avoided by compromise.

A stern message sharply criticizing opponents of food subsidies—and reports coming from the White House say that preliminary drafts were of that character—would in all likelihood touch off another fight such as was waged last summer. Then, congress passed legislation banning the subsidies and was unable to override a presidential veto.

Buffalo Dean Plans Visit To Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Oct. 21.—(P)—The Very Rev. Austin Pardue, of Buffalo, who on Tuesday was named bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Pittsburgh, will arrive here tonight to receive formal notification of his election.

The 44-year-old dean of St. Paul's Cathedral at Buffalo said it would be "a week or ten days" before he could make a decision on whether to accept the bishopric, adding, "I want to feel very sure I'm the man for the job and competent enough before I indicate my acceptance."

Dean Pardue, who gained national radio broadcasts, will if he accepts the offer succeed Bishop Alexander Mann, 83, who has announced his retirement for Jan. 1. Today's visit will be Dean Pardue's first to Pittsburgh. He said, however, he would not be friendly here as he has many intimates among the local clergy, including Bishop Mann. Then, too, he said, (Turn To Page Eleven)

VENANGO FARMER KILLED

Franklin, Oct. 21.—(P)—Clarence O. Proper, 56, farmer and dairyman, was killed instantly yesterday when the blade of a power-saw he was operating broke loose and struck him in the face, almost decapitating him. He was saving logs at his farm near Chapmanville when the tragedy occurred.

DIVORCES INCREASING

Pittsburgh, Oct. 21.—(P)—Prothonotary William H. Frasher said divorce suits filed so far this year show an increase of 13 per cent over the same period in 1942. Records show 2,457 cases filed to October 1 this year, as compared with 2,139 in the same time last year.

GRAFT CASE NEARS END

Uniontown, Oct. 21.—(P)—Indications were that the fee "graft" case which started 18 days ago in Fayette county court may go to the jury today. Yesterday was devoted to arguments for the defense. The state will give its summation of the case today and Judge Horatio S. Dumbauld is expected to devote several hours to instructions.

GERMANS REPORTED EVACUATING CRIMEA AS RUSSIANS DRIVE AHEAD TO CUT ESCAPE ROUTE

London, Oct. 21.—(P)—The German armies in the Crimea have begun a mass withdrawal from the peninsula via the Perekop land bridge, Moscow advices indicated today, to escape entrapment by a powerful Russian advance threatening their line of retreat.

Battling furiously to stem the steady progress of the Red army troops pouring through the Kremenchug bridgehead west of the Dnieper river, the German command was said to be throwing all available reserves into the breach. But the Soviet drive, hourly increasing in momentum, smashed further to the west through the Ukrainian steppe country to overlap the Crimea on the North, a Russian communique disclosed.

A second Red army column was racing south toward Krievoi Rog, important rail junction and center of the south Russian iron industry, and today was reported to be within 35 miles of that key German stronghold guarding the last escape railway route from the Crimea.

More than 1,500 Nazis were slain in this advance, the Russian communique declared.

Capture of Krievoi Rog would virtually seal off the tens of thousands of Germans huddled in Dnepropetrovsk and in the Dnieper bend above Melitopol, where the Russians were reported to be methodically cleaning out last-ditch Nazi units who have been stubbornly holding out for more than a week.

Full Liquor Rationing Is Urgent By Dent

Harrisburg, Oct. 21.—(P)—State Senator John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) today called for full liquor rationing by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board in an open letter to Governor Martin.

The senator at the same time urged "a quick and thorough study" of the present liquor board policies by the Joint State Government Commission, legislative research agency, after asserting charges of favoritism and mismanagement he aimed last March in the legislature are still "being made in the public press."

The Liquor Board, which was given authority by the legislature to ration scant supplies, has set up a system for sales to licensees and has limited retail buyers to one bottle of whiskey, gin, brandy or cordial and one bottle of U. S. dessert wines, vermouth or sparkling wines at a time. All restrictions on rum, hitters, foreign wines, except sparkling wines and U. S. table wines have been lifted.

Chairman Frederick T. Gelder, of the Liquor Control Board, was immediately unavailable for comment on Senator Dent's letter.

Navy Yard Releasing MANY FOR THE DRAFT

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—(P)—The Philadelphia Navy Yard has released 11,000 workers for the draft in the last year, members of four selective service boards were told last night.

Replying to charges that the yard was "hoarding labor," officials said it had been furnishing 1,000 selectees a month for the last six months.

These figures, it was added, did not include "several thousand" men from the naval aircraft factory.

Forest Leads State In War Loan Drive

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—(P)—Thirty-eight of Pennsylvania's 67 counties went over the top in the Third War Loan Drive, a report as of October 18 showed today.

Forest county led with 205 per cent of its $259,000 goal, but Pike county was highest in individual purchases of series E bonds, reaching 200 per cent of its $77,000 allotment for that series.

ALLIES SEIZE TWO TOWNS IN SOUTH ITALY

Gen. Montgomery's Troops Storm High Ground Dominating Road North from Vinchiato

BUSSO IS OCCUPIED

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Oct. 21.—(P)—The Fifth Army has made slight gains in the area north of the Volturno river. It was announced today, and advanced elements are probing the region to determine exactly where the Germans are setting up their new defenses based on Massico ridge. The ditches and irrigation canals of this fertile, but now devastated, agricultural terrain slowed the progress of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's troops.

On the Eighth Army front, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's troops stormed the high ground dominating the road running northwest from Vinchiato, occupied Bussio, a mountain village about four miles due west of Campobasso, and swept into Oratino, a few miles to the north.

Bussio, situated 2,400 feet above sea level, overlooks Baranello to the south. Stabbing deeper into the Balkans than on any previous fights, American medium bombers from Northwest African forces wrecked the roundhouse and locomotives at Nis, Yugoslavia, to lend an assist to the guerrilla forces fighting the Germans there.

Nis lies between Belgrade and Sofia and is an important junction through which the Orient express passes.

Railway objectives at Nis were left a mass of flaming wreckage by the American B-25 Marauders, escorted by P-38 Lightnings.

Occupation of the high ground west of Campobasso—given up by the Germans with great reluctance—was essential for movement of Gen. Montgomery's forces along the important road northward from Vinchiato toward the road and railway junction of Isernia.

Patrols were active in other parts of the Eighth Army front, including the Adriatic area above Termoli.

Wounded as the Germans may be by the long fight along the Volturno (Turn To Page Eleven)

Yugoslav Forces Extend Operations

London, Oct. 21.—(P)—Mobile columns of Yugoslav partisans have extended their offensive operations to widely scattered sections of Bosnia, Herzegovina and Montenegro and have inflicted heavy damage to German rail installations and supply depots, a communique of the Yugoslav Liberation Army said today.

The communique, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio and recorded by the Associated Press, reported that German units which attacked partisan positions around the town of Cetinje were driven back with severe losses by the Yugoslav Fifth Brigade.

Along the Dalmatian coast the Nazis were attacking in force around the towns of Sinj, Split and Trogir, the war bulletin said, while the patriots were battering their way toward Ston, in the same sector.

In eastern Croatia, the German-held town of Pacrac was stormed by guerrilla troops. Despite strong enemy resistance, the guerrillas captured a tank, 250 freight cars and three military trucks.

In addition to his parents, wife and child, the young soldier leaves three sisters and two brothers: Mrs. Ida Chiricuzio, of Corry; Theresa, Mary Stella and Guy Riccardio of Warren; Cpl. Frank Paul Scalisie, in a medical detachment at Miami Beach, Fla. His father is employed in the Aero Supply plant at Corry.

Concerted Drive to Preserve Huge Potato Crop Launched

With this year's all time bumper crop of potatoes expected to reach over 60,000,000 bushels, William W. Walsh, War Food Administration Area Supervisor today announced a concerted drive to have consumers purchase and store potatoes for winter and spring use would begin October 21 and be continued through November 6.

The crop of potatoes now coming to market is by far the greatest in history and the same condition exists throughout the nation Mr. Walsh said.

The crop is so large that commercial storage facilities are not adequate to handle them, Mr. Walsh explained and said the campaign will be built around an appeal direct to consumers to "Do as your grandmother did" and "store a bushel of potatoes for each member of your family". In this way the huge crop will be fully utilized and possibility of spoilage will be avoided.

He emphasized however that only those householders having proper facilities for storage should undertake to do so. "Generally speaking potatoes can be kept in any dry, ventilated place where the temperature does not rise or fall above 40 to 60 degrees and where the vegetables can be shielded from light. They are among the easy products to store," he said.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent urination, backache, and sometimes burning or stinging passages with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatism, pain, leg pain, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Warren Designated Battalion
Headquarters of State Guard

Official word was received today that Warren was designated as Battalion Headquarters for the third Battalion of the Fourth Regiment, Infantry, of the Pennsylvania State Guards. The company, comprising the battalion will consist of new companies to be formed in Warren, Bradford and Kane.

With the formation of this new battalion, the former platoons will be expanded to consist of three companies of 73 men to each company. The Battalion will be headed by Arthur Dickinson, who was promoted from Captain to Major, and his Battalion staff will consist of Lts. Edward J. Ustach and Walter E. Confer.

The Warren platoon will be completely re-organized to form Co. I and will be headed by James V. Scalise with the rank of Captain. Scalise was a former member of old Co. I, 112th Inf. P. N. G., having served with the old National Guards for a period of 12 years. Capt. Scalise was commissioned 2nd Lt. in old Co. I in July 1925 and was commissioned 1st Lt.

June 26, 1926 and served in that capacity until his resignation in 1934. Capt. Scalise saw service in World War I from July 30, 1917 to Oct. 2, 1919. At the time of his discharge from the regular Army, he was given the Purple Heart Medal for wounds received in line of duty. The officers of the new Co. I will be appointed after the various candidates have successfully passed their examinations.

In designating Warren as the Battalion Headquarters for Co. I, 4th Pa. Inf., the Warren Platoon was doubly honored, in that it was permitted to become known once more as Co. I, a name which has already earned an honored record in both World Wars, and in recognition of the splendid record of the Warren Platoon made since its organization in January 1942.

The Warren Platoon was first organized in January of 1942 by Arthur F. Dickinson, who was at that time a 2nd Lieutenant. It was attached to Co. C, with headquarters at Oil City. Upon the re-organization of the State Guards

Borough Is Rate A-No. 1
Financial Risk

Warren borough today is sitting pretty as far as its finances are concerned, he Borough bonds are listed as an A No. 1 risk and investors gladly buy the bonds when they are offered. Too much credit for this condition cannot be given by the taxpayers to the members of Council and to the Finance Committee for some excellent, foresighted financing.

On December 31, 1942 the Borough of Warren had an outstanding bonded indebtedness of $292,000. During the past year by the purchase of bonds falling due the indebtedness has been reduced by $38,000. And in addition to this cut in the debt the Finance Committee has purchased with idle funds of the Sinking Fund $60,000 in Treasury Tax Notes and today there is approximately $31,000 in the cash balance of the Sinking Fund. This is a splendid showing as the borough as of today has approximately $91,000 on hand to apply against the indebtedness which really leaves the Borough only about $74,000 with which no funds are on hand at the present time to pay. However the Sinking Fund set-up will take care of this amount in the usual channels.

The showing is a splendid one of which all citizens of the borough may be proud.

in May 1943, Warren was then designated as company headquarters of Co. B with detached platoons at Kane and Bradford. During the summer encampment, the showing made by Co. B was so outstanding, that upon the expansion of the Pennsylvania State Guards, Warren was then chosen to become the battalion headquarters.

The present strength of the Warren company is 39, but with the orders to expand the company into a battalion, Warren is now authorized to receive 33 additional enlistments. All those interested in enlisting in the Pennsylvania State Guards are urged to be present at the Armory next Tuesday and contact Capt. James V. Scalise.

GIVE ONCE AND FOR ALL

This is our war. We have seen our men march away, we have lent our money to the government, we have endured personal sacrifices without very much complaint.

We have supported the USO, United Seamen's Service, United China Relief, British War Relief, Russian War Relief and other war-related philanthropies.

Now, in the National War Fund, we have an opportunity to give once for all. The National War Campaign is a joint appeal eliminating confusion and duplication.

We recognize the services of the National War Fund's seventeen member agencies to our fighting men, our merchant seamen, our men who are prisoners of war, to the refugees and the suffering peoples of the United Nations.

We are proud of the sound structure and the practical approach of the National War Fund to the huge task of hastening the end of the war, serving our boys and guarding the threatened nationalities of Europe.

We must support it with our efforts and our dollars.

MEMO TO SERVICE MEN

It may not be as generally known as it should be that service men of Warren and the county who are home on furlough are privileged to use the facilities of the Y. M. C. A. without membership or cost of any kind.

Many men in uniform avail themselves of the opportunity of using gymnasium, showers, swimming pool, or social and reading rooms of the "Y" while in the city, but there are many others who apparently are not aware of the fact that these facilities are theirs for the asking.

President Howard Alexander of the Y. M. C. A. in pointing out this fact, suggested that parents and friends of local service men remind the latter of the opportunities offered by the "Y" while they are in the vicinity. There are not enough uniformed men in the city at any one time to require organized activities on a large scale, but as individuals, or in pairs or small groups, the service men find the "Y" facilities convenient and enjoyable. The only charge of any kind made to a service man is for the use of a Dormitory room, and that is given to him at half-rate.

The monthly Pre-Induction party, set-up to help prepare Selectees for examination, induction and training experiences, is a well-known activity. The next one of these events will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 9, for men called for examination in November.

"OLD MAESTRO" SIGNS OFF

The death of Ben Bernie at Beverly Hills, Calif., as chronicled in Wednesday's issue, takes from radio not only one of its pioneers but a dynamic personality, who, as the "Old Maestro," kidded himself, the products for which he broadcast or anything else handy.

Bernie started out in New York radio around 1923 before network days, and when the chains were formed, he and his band became one of their stand-bys. From 1930 there was hardly a season he didn't have a sponsor, and up to his last broadcast on January 15 this year he had more or less alternated between NBC and CBS. His last series, on CBS, was a five-day a week show with his band. He was forced to drop out because of ill health before the contract period was over.

Ben was credited with a number of radio "firsts", including a network transmission in 1923 between New York and Philadelphia, an attempted short-wave relay to Australia in 1942 and the use on the air of a theme song, his being "My Buddy".

No parent, man or woman in Warren county has a right to sit back and talk about the juvenile problem unless he has done something constructive to combat delinquency—one such activity is his presence at the PTA's public meeting at the high school here this evening, when Judge Allison D. Wade will talk about the youth problem from the court's viewpoint.

The Russians have broken through not only the Dnieper line, but Hitler's—to the effect that German troops would hold it at all costs.

Plenty of Seeds at Ceiling Prices in 1944

Price ceilings will be in effect on vegetable seeds for Victory gardens for 1944, and Secretary of Agriculture Wickard promised in his speech at Chicago's Victory Garden Festival that supplies would be ample. In spite of the fact that the demand for seeds by amateur gardeners trebled last spring, no serious shortages developed, and prices of the packets, which contain quantities sufficient for home gardens, were not increased.

Announcement of point rationing started a rush on stores weeks before the normal date, and before stocks were fully distributed by wholesalers. But eventually all demands were met and no Victory gardener failed to get the seed he needed.

Next spring will find stores selling seeds prepared for an early demand, according to James A. Young, executive secretary of the American Seed Trade Association.

"Facilities for handling a still further increase in demand have been prepared," said he. "Every one should realize that there is no reason for hoarding seed, or danger of rising prices, or having to do without. And fortunately, there will be no reason for anyone using seed of doubtful quality, and taking a chance on losing his crop on that account."

All seeds sold in this country which cross state lines are subject to the federal law, which sets high standards of germination. Most states have laws on the same subject. These laws insure that no seeds so old as have lost the power to grow are sold.

But there is another factor of the greatest importance to Victory gardeners, Mr. Young pointed out. "It is the quality of the vegetables which are produced by the seed; and in solving that problem great advances have been made in developing scientific breeding methods."

Use of home-grown garden seeds has been obsolete in this country for fifty years, because of the deterioration taking place in the progeny, where the seed parents have not been properly selected for type, and protected against accidental crossing with other varieties. This deterioration is not shown in the appearance of the seed, but only becomes known when the crop is mature. It may be caused by cross pollination of two varieties, producing a mixture of types; or by harvesting seeds from inferior plants.

Methods of scientific accuracy can be used to cause a constant improvement in well bred strains, but to apply them requires thorough training in genetics, and long experience in the field. It is a rare amateur who is able to select from his garden, seeds which will insure him as good a crop as he grew this year.

"There are few crops which mature seeds in the garden in the ordinary course," said Mr. Young. "The early crops, such as lettuce, and radishes should be pulled up before making seed, to make room for other plantings, which will produce crops much more valuable than seed. Crops of which we eat the mature fruits, such as tomatoes, squash, and melons, and those of which we eat the seed, such as beans, peas and corn, could be saved, but the risk of accidental crossing is present with all of them. The difficulties of saving home grown seeds are so many, and the risk of using them so great, that it is fortunate there is enough scientifically bred seed to go around."

Thank you...
...for giving up needless travel!

THOUSANDS of Americans, conscious of the vital part that transportation plays in victory, are giving up non-essential trips. That is genuine sacrifice, self-restriction symbolic of American determination to win this war.

Half the available Pullman cars and a third of all coaches are now in troop service. Those which are left are carrying an enormous volume of essential war and business travelers. Besides that, many thousands of service men on furlough and people going about the daily business of making a living are taxing available equipment to the limit. That kind of travel MUST come first.

With good grace there is almost universal acceptance of the fact that when no Pullman space is available the alternative is a coach; and when coaches are filled, the alternative to standing is to remain at home. For frankly, there is not room at all times for all who would like to travel.

Compulsory travel restrictions would restrain the few who consider personal convenience first, but by and large, plain horse sense and loyalty are making self-restriction work reasonably well.

Americans in the vast majority who ask themselves conscientiously, "Is this trip necessary?" will not undertake any unnecessary journey at the expense of crowding out an essential traveler or a service man on leave for a few precious days at home.

To those who have refrained from "pleasure" travel in the interest of their fellow-Americans and the war effort, the Pennsylvania Railroad acknowledges its appreciation. We know that in many cases it has not been easy, because it is human nature for Americans to "go places." But it is this spirit of cooperation that will help win this war.

How To Have A Warm House This Winter

AP Features

Shortages of coal and fuel make it imperative that home owners get more heat from their available supplies this year. Ways of "heat-sealing"—keeping cold out and heat in—are relatively simple and inexpensive and in many cases the saving in fuel bills will defray the expense. The FHA lends money on easy terms to do the job. Here are seven tips by the WPB, showing how you can have a hot time in the old house this winter.

1.—HEAT-SEAL attic floor or roof. Blanket insulation strips can be put up easily.

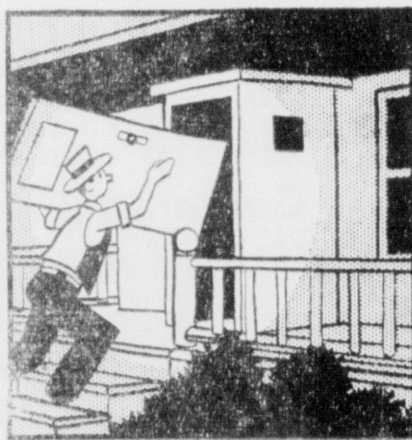

2.—WEATHERSTRIP doors and windows to prevent up to one-quarter of heat loss.

3.—CALK CRACKS around outer walls of house. Stores sell calking compounds.

4.—INSTALL STORM DOORS and windows to reduce great heat loss through glass.

5.—ERECT VESTIBULES to keep cold air out of house when persons enter.

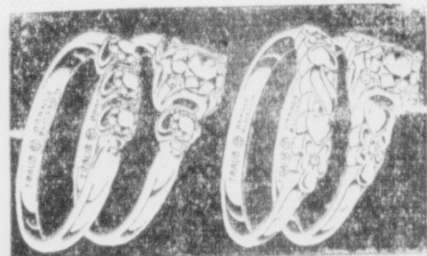

6.—HEAT-SEAL ceilings of unheated basements. Close off rooms not regularly used.

7.—GET PROFESSIONALS to cover furnace with asbestos and insulate steam pipes.

What It Means

By ROBERT M. FARRINGTON

WASHINGTON—U. S. munition production this year will not reach the $65,000,000,000 goal set for it, although it is expected to come very close, probably $62,000,000,000 anyway.

Failure to meet this goal does not mean that there will be a munition shortage or that American soldiers or sailors on any of our fighting fronts will be without arms to defeat the enemy.

For one thing, there is a recognized difference between the scheduled goal and the amount of equipment actually needed. War Production Board men have been fighting for "realistic" schedules for some time, protesting that the official schedules as put out by the various agencies are frequently nothing more than a mechanical rabbit, close enough to the greyhounds to keep them running, but too far ahead to ever be caught.

Dollar Yardstick

In addition, although using a dollar yardstick to measure production is more satisfactory than using numbers, weight or other method, it has serious shortcomings. One of these is that as a manufacturer succeeds in lowering his price per unit through efficiency and increased experience, it beats down the dollar-value goal.

For instance, 1,000 105-mm guns might be scheduled at $15,000 each. Once the guns are rolling off the production line, however, the cost drops to $11,500. On the overall schedule, this would show up as a $3,500,000 decrease although the quantity has been met fully.

The difference between the official schedules and the real need starts back where the critical materials, such as steel, copper and aluminum, are divided among the various claimant agencies (Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, etc.).

Since these agencies are competing against each other for limited quantities, they tend to go before the hard-boiled War Production Board with higher demands than actually needed, so that they will still get what they need if their demands are cut.

If the Navy, for instance, asks for a huge quantity of steel for warships, it has to back this up with a schedule showing when and how many ships are to be delivered. If the quantity of steel is inflated, then the schedule of ships also has to be set higher than needed.

On top of this, Navy schedules are not meant to be realistic, but are purposely set high as an incentive for the shipyards.

Lack Of Realism

While this lack of realism does not affect the material allocation, it adds to the inflated schedule and results in continuous failure to meet the goals.

Aircraft schedules are another example of a goal never to be attained. They are deliberately put as much as 15 per cent out of reach so the manufacturer will try to exceed the estimated capacity of his plant. Aircraft schedules have been "revised" at least three times this year—downwards.

Schedules, therefore, are not a hard-and-fast total that must be met. That isn't to say they can be ignored or that producing impossible numbers of war weapons wouldn't help shorten the war. If it were possible to turn out say 10,000 Flying Fortresses a month, the war would be soon won; and the claimant agencies can usually whip up a good argument to justify their high demands.

Some way of measuring our progress in war production is necessary and schedules work fairly well within their limitations. The main danger is their too-literal acceptance as the key to our home-front effort. The battlefield results are perhaps the best indication of how good our production really is.

Armour Ideas Make the Most of Meat

Men like Bacon and Cabbage.. Hearty Dish!

Haven't you heard men rave over corned beef and cabbage? Well, just let the man of your house try this delicious bacon and cabbage dish! It's wonderfully full of flavor. It's hearty and satisfying. It's the dish that gives that "well-fed" feeling . . . yet it takes less than one meat-point per serving.

It's so point-thrifty because it's made with Armour's Star Bacon . . . the rich, mild bacon that is sugarcured in its own juices . . . then slow-smoked over fragrant hickory and hardwood fires. So flavorful that its fine meat flavor extends through all the cabbage . . . makes just a little go a long way. And in this bacon and cabbage dish you need no butter (another point saving).

To prepare the dish, fry 4 or more slices of Star Bacon slowly until crisp. Remove slices. Add 2 tbsps. sugar and 2 tbsps. flour to bacon fat. Blend. Add 1/2 cup water and 1/3 cup vinegar gradually. Cook and stir until thick. Season. Cook cabbage in boiling water for 5 minutes. Drain. Pour sweet-sour sauce over cabbage. To serve, place crisp bacon slices on top of cabbage. Serves 4.

Four Girl Scout Troops Have Perfect Attendance At Meet

Four Girl Scout troops had a perfect score for adult attendance at the meeting of Girl Scout Troop 100 at the YWCA Tuesday evening, representatives of six other troops and Girl Scout Council members bringing the total attendance to 43, the largest number ever present at a meeting of this adult troop.

Members present were all from Warren and North Warren. Seven other Girl Scout troops in these towns were not represented. There are more than 20 troops in other communities of the county.

The purpose of the meeting was joint training of troop committee members and leaders in the art of working together to give to Girl Scout troops the greatest possible satisfaction in participating in the skills and activities in the Girl Scout program.

The troop with the largest representation was Brownie Scout Troop 43 of Jefferson School with three leaders and four troop committee members. three committee members from North Warren. Girl Scout Troop 41, First Presbyterian church, was the other troop with a perfect score one leader and three committee members being present.

Pinkham's Tablets is one of the greatest blood-iron tonics you can buy to help build up red blood to give more strength and energy and to promote a more robust bloodstream—in such cases.

Taken as directed—Pinkham's Tablets is one of the best and quickest home ways to get precious iron into the blood. Just try them for at least 30 days—then see if you, too, don't remarkably benefit. Follow label directions. Well worth trying!

This troop is searching for an assistant leader.

Each of the winning troops will receive a year's subscription to the American Girl Magazine or other Girl Scout equipment to the value of $1.00 as an award from the training committee of the council.

Membership badges in the Citizens' Service Corps of the Council of Defense were given to nine leaders and council members who have completed 50 or more hours of volunteer service to Girl Scouting since Pearl Harbor, as follows: Mrs. F. L. Abendroth, Mrs. C. M. Bannion, Miss Evelyn Boyd, Mrs. Berntha Hensher, Mrs. Charles Hudson, Mrs. Marshall Morrow, Mrs. Paul Reynolds, Mrs. Robert Specht, Mrs. John Wolstencroft.

A skit in which the value of troop committees was demonstrated caused much merriment because of the wholehearted participation of the actors. Mrs. Harold Stohl, Mrs. Marshall Morrow, Mrs. R. W. Mackay, and Mrs. William Glassman played leading roles.

The next meeting of Troop 100 will be held Jan. 25, 1944, as the Girl Scout Leaders' Association will meet in November and December.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Today's tour takes us into a pleasant little subdivision of the local bedlam ruled by a blonde darling labeled Belita—just Belita. Belita's own private bedlam.

Belita's o. p. b.—her dressing room at Monogram studios—stands off in a corner of a crazily busy sound stage where Belita's second starring movie, "Lady, Let's Dance," is in progress. Around the corner, on another stage, there's an ice rink, a New York skyline, the Statue of Liberty, and a flock of extras playing soldier. After lunch Belita will put on her skates and cut a frozen rug.

There is no other dressing room quite like Belita's. It's not one of these silk-lined portable palaces such as some studios use to house their stellar pets. It's two walls tacked at right angles to the corner walls of the stage. On the door is painted "Belita" and a big star.

WE STUMBLE our way to this door through a maze of carpenters tearing down yesterday's set. We knock, and four or five voices say "Come in" and there we are—in Belita's private bedlam.

The room is littered with everything, including people.

"I love it," says Belita of the room. "It's just like a theater dressing room. Sit down," she challenges, so we duck under or around five comers or goers and move things from a corner chair and look around.

The walls are draped in mothy red velvet, with a small parade of ballet-dancing dolls pinned to it. "Costumes I wore on the stage," says Belita, who is 19, and has an impish grin. She says it around Freddie, the make-up man, who is grease-painting her. Freddie—he's Fred T. Walker, an old-timer—says to pardon his back.

BELITA explains that "Lady, Let's Dance" is half dancing and half skating, and that she's been dancing since she was one year old when she was a fairy in a Christmas play in her native England. She says she fell on her face on that occasion and has been repeating the performance ever since.

Just then a new girl comes in about Belita's lunch. "Eggs," she says, and then starts a search for a pan to cook them in.

We suggest looking behind the studio couch, and sure enough—

one is there. Nobody seems surprised.

MARRY THE GIRL—WE'LL FURNISH THE HOME

Chapter 4
SUNDAY was a perfect day. The unnatural sticky heat that had held the city in a vise for the past week had disappeared overnight, and April was back for a return visit. The breeze blew gently in from the Potomac.

Waiting for a street car in front of the executive mansion, Sally watched the guard standing stiffly with fixed bayonet. Against the sloping lawns and dignified columns of the stately building, he looked incongruous, as though he had walked in on a full dress ball in work clothes. Yet he was the symbol of the tension inside those lofty pillars.

Here was the nerve center of a world at war. Within the great doors sat men who decided when the bombers would unleash their loads on Germany, when the fleet would strike in the Pacific, whose son and whose brother would sail out of an unnamed harbor for an unnamed battlefield. Here weary men from the suffering countries of Europe described the agony of their people to the president of a free land.

"Just looking at it sort of gets you, doesn't it?" said a man to the woman with him on the street car platform next Sally. "Yes, people may kid about patriotism, but that's what you feel when you look at it."

That's what Sally felt too, as the street car jerked its way down Pennsylvania Avenue toward the gleaming dome of the Capitol, went past the two long House office buildings, by the green-roofed Library of Congress. A magnificent city, a city of power and prestige. She thought breathlessly, I'm lucky, so lucky to be here. Then the massive buildings were left behind and the route lay by slightly dingy brownstone homes and ordinary stores. Reality returned. Sally was room-hunting.

She had decided to look first over in Anacostia for her office, and Anacostia would be convenient. Old-time Washingtonians turned up their noses at Anacostia, but it was a part of the city made flourishing and active by the tremendous influx of war workers. It was pretty too, for Pennsylvania Avenue ran uphill there at a sharp angle overlooking the river.

It was two o'clock when Sally located the first room for rent, as listed in the Sunday Star. But she evidently was a couple of hours late, for the room was already rented. The same story on her second and third choices. Curious, Sally asked the third landlady how her competitors did it. "Oh, that girl called me up and took the room without seeing it. She's on her way over here now with the first week's rent."

Sally felt a shiver of apprehension. If she had to hand over a week's rent, that left very little of the money Mother and Dad had advanced her. She would have to stretch it for a full week's meals and carfare, for pay day at the War Commission was a week away.

Next stop, at a dingy house hidden behind a huge sprawling apartment structure, the landlady said, "How many want this room?" Sally explained she was alone.

"I WOULDN'T consider renting to one person," was the decisive answer. "All my rooms are rented to at least two girls, and usually three or four. There's a double bed in the room for rent, but it wouldn't pay me to rent to one. I'm asking ten dollars for each girl."

Twenty dollars a week for a room in that dingy house. Sally felt sick. Why the woman was coining money. And how could the girl afford to pay prices like that? She had always heard Washington was an expensive place to live, but this was robbery. Carfare would cost her a dollar and a quarter a week for one of those combination street car-bus passes. She had thought she might be able to eat for a dollar a day, when she was planning a budget back in River Edge, but that was impossible. A dollar and a half was more like it, and even that meant she could never eat at an attractive restaurant, but would spend most of her time in government cafeterias and drugstores.

It was the same story all day long. By early afternoon Sally had exhausted the list of rooms in the paper. There weren't many possibilities when she had eliminated the ads of girls wanting to share their rooms. She took a tip from the landlady who had told her the girl taking the room had telephoned, and talked her way rapidly through ten nickels, eliminating ten rooms already rented. She bolted a milk shake in the drug store, to see her through the afternoon, and started out again. By now she was getting worried.

She was out in the northwest now, in a heavily populated area just off Dupont Circle which used to be fashionable, but now was filled with respectable rooming houses. But she wasn't doing any better here. She had walked for miles up and down streets, up and down steps of houses inspecting shabby rooms. Worst of all there was a gnawing worry in her mind. She was getting behind on her milk shake. What if I can't find a room? I won't have any place to stay. And I haven't money enough to get home.

DESPERATELY she opened the paper once more. The address of the top ad caught her eye. Sally had skipped it because it was another share-your-room ad. But she was standing almost in front of the exact number. Just to find sleeping quarters anywhere was a vital necessity. She climbed the millionth pair of steps. A friendly-faced girl with curly black hair opened the door of 4B a crack, and said in a swift sentence, "Eight dollars a week half a double bed, no housekeeping privileges, share the bath with six others, don't come in if you're over thirty."

The tight ball of worry broke suddenly as Sally laughed. It was as unreal as Mack Sennett humor, but it was friendly. In a flash Sally accepted, and was accepted. "Typical government girls, that's what we are," said the curly haired girl perching on one end of a brass bed that absorbed a quarter of the room. The tall moved swiftly back and forth among the four girls. Where do you come from, where do you work?

In a daze from weariness and relief, Sally thought how like sorority this was. The girls had sized her up, and hadn't blackballed her. She belonged. Room hunting was over.

Major League Clubs Again To Train In Camps In the North

BY BUCKY O'CONNOR
Chicago, Oct. 21.—(P)—Despite a mild back-to-sunny climate movement inspired the past ten weeks by various groups, major league baseball clubs again will conduct spring training north of the "Landis-Eastman" line.

Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis' terse announcement to that effect yesterday ended speculation that any of the big league ball clubs would return to their warm southland haunts for conditioning.

The "Landis-Eastman" line decree, formulated a year ago by Commissioner Landis and ODT Director Joseph B. Eastman, to ease the strain on rail travel, restricted clubs to areas north of the Ohio and the Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi.

As though trying to beat the commissioner to the draw, the Chicago Cubs and White Sox, in a joint statement, announced they would return to French Lick, Ind., where last year they contended with cold, rain, snow and flood tides but came home intact and in fairly good condition.

A few hours later the St. Louis Cardinals announced they would return to their Cairo, Ill., camp, while the Browns said they again would be at Cape Girardeau, Mo., for spring training. St. Louis

Penn Coach Denies Team "Laying It On"

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—(P)—Reports from New York that the University of Pennsylvania is "laying it on" against Ivy league teams this fall drew an indignant denial from Coach George Munger said last night.

"We're not trying to run up scores on anybody," Munger said. "I don't feel that either team benefits from such a game. On the other hand, it's not football to kick on first down or try for a field goal when a touchdown may be scored."

Discussing Penn's 47-9 victory over Princeton and 41-7 drubbing of Yale, which apparently drew the criticism, Munger pointed out, "We cleared the bench in both games, and any time a substitute gets into a game, he's in there to do all he can."

Figures show the Red and Blue used 11 ends, six tackles, nine guards, three centers and eleven backs against Princeton and 10 ends, six tackles, seven guards, three centers and 14 backs against Yale.

"You can look back at the records and find where in the past both Princeton and Yale have scored as high as 50 points against us," Munger added. "We probably could have run up that many against them if we were trying to lay it on."

As for reports that Columbia was in for "the same treatment" Saturday, "we're going over there to play a game and win if we can. We'll be lucky to win," said Munger.

Warren Fans Keyed for Game Against Bradford Saturday At 2:30 P. M. on Russell Field

The local high school football Dragons have two days to go until their clash with their ancient rivals, the Bradford Owls, and they're primed already to test everything the McKean county lads can offer them.

J. B. Leidig, mentor of the Blue and White, has put the outfit through tough drills all week to iron out a few flaws he found in last week's victory over Franklin.

If ever the locals and their supporters were "in the groove," it's for this battle, with a record crowd expected to be out Saturday cheering Warren to its 6th win of the year.

Reports haven't divulged as yet whether Warren's star punter, Gerald Vesling will see action this week or not, but Byron Tome, reserve halfback for Warren may be back after his back injury in the Oil City game. He's been out for several practice sessions this week.

Both sides of the battle are keyed up to a fever pitch, with Bradford reluctant at all times to see their boys take a beating, they never like to see the Dragons handing it out to them, and a record out-of-town attendance is expected to fill their side of the field this year.

All the color of football is the dish for Warren and fans from the vicinity at 2:30 Saturday a. m. and with Harry Summer's brilliant band supplying plenty of music over intermediated periods, the gridiron sport will bow out, as far as home games are concerned, on Russell Field Saturday.

Pitching Sensation Is Acquired By Phils

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—(P)—The Phillies announced last night they had signed Al Verdel, 22-year-old righthanded pitcher from Trenton, N. J., who won 36 games and lost six for Fort Dix before he was discharged recently from the army.

The Phillies were said to have outbid the champion New York Yankees, who wanted Verdel to report to their Newark farm club next spring.

More good news came to the Phillies from First Baseman Babe Dahlgren, who wired from his home at San Gabriel, Calif., that he had failed to pass his army physical examination because of a sinus condition.

The Time: This evening, Thursday, October 21, at 7:30 p. m.
The Place: The banquet hall of the Warren Y. W. C. A.
The Purpose: The first report meeting of the Warren County United War Fund campaign for $88,700.

As the zero hour for the all-important first report meeting draws near, Edward W. ## You May Never Have To Take Another Laxative

Most constipated people might be as regular as clock-work—if they would only quit worrying—stop being nervous—take more exercise—watch their diet—and get up mornings an hour or so earlier to give bowels time to act. But who can or wants to do all that?

So—the next best thing is to keep the bowels working as regularly and comfortably as we can—and that's where good old Esposito comes in. Why?

Because you may take Esposito at night and expect results in the morning when you get up without waiting around—because they do not move the bowels so violently as to leave you feeling weak and washed-out.

AND because they help give the grand, comfortable, satisfying type of movement that makes the spirits soar—and what sour, constipated person could ask for more? Get Esposito at your druggist today and take as directed, 25c.

London, Oct. 21—(P)—Admiral of the Fleet Sir Dudley Pound, who resigned early this month as First British Sea Lord because of ill health, died today in London at the age of 66.

Sir Dudley directed the British fleet through four of its most critical war years and is credited with shaping more than any other man the course of Britain's modern naval policy.

He was taken ill while returning from the Churchill-Roosevelt conference at Quebec. He resigned as first sea lord Oct. 4 and was succeeded the next day by Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham, who had been commander of British naval forces in the Mediterranean.

HORST DECLARES FEED SITUATION CRITICAL

Harrisburg, Oct. 21—(P)—Miles Horst, secretary of agriculture, told the Pennsylvania State Veterinary Medical Association today that "the feed situation in Pennsylvania is becoming more serious every day."

"It will be more serious in 1944," the secretary declared in a prepared speech, and pointed out, "ever grain crop raised in Pennsylvania this year, with the exception of buckwheat, is below 1942 production."

Horst told delegates to the group's 61st annual meeting, "The quality of livestock and poultry feeds now available is getting poorer all the time and in some cases it has become necessary to provide an additional 50 per cent or more of feed to maintain production."

IRVINGDALE UNIT

Howard Landers, president, was in charge of the regular meeting of Irvingdale PTA on Tuesday evening, when there was an unusually fine attendance and roll call showed 15 new members. After the routine opening, group singing was led by Mrs. Frank Smith with Miss Clifton Larson at the piano. Announcements were made concerning registration for Ration Book Four and plans for a Halloween dance to be held October 29.

For the program, Audrey Brownell played two piano selections, children of room five taught by Ruth Solinger gave a play, "Safety First" and Curtis Valentine played several accordion numbers. To conclude, the committee served refreshments.

LACY SCHOOL UNIT

Lacy PTA held its regular meeting at the school Tuesday evening with approximately 60 in attendance. In a brief business session, Mrs. Walter Mather called attention to coming Clare Tree Major plays and urged that those wishing tickets secure them at once, since the demand has been increasingly great. She asked also that anyone interested in signing up for the Lacy unit's Home Nursing Class please contact the president, Mrs. F. J. Kotmar. The at-

Andrews and Levine Point Out Need of Women Workers

K. M. Andrews, a member of the Management-Labor Advisory Council of the local Manpower Commission is genuinely alarmed at the labor outlook in this city. In commenting on the situation here today he said: "Few who are not in touch with the situation prevailing in Warren plants can realize just what is happening to the manpower here. Shops are Superintendent John G. Rossman gave a fine talk on "War's Challenge to the School" and special music was provided in two vocal solos, "Tommy, My Lad" and "Travelin'", by Everett Borg, accompanied by his wife, also a violin duet, "Plantation Melody" played by Joyce Ettinger and Jeanine Mather, with piano accompaniment by Miss Frances Peterson. To conclude, refreshments were served by mothers of first grade pupils, Mrs. C. J. Maeder and Mrs. C. Berglund in charge.

A piano of radically new construction which uses plastic plywood instead of metal in the "harp" is being produced by an enterprising York, Pennsylvania, company the state department of commerce announced today.

being badly pinched for help and if the women of the community fail to come forward and take the places of the men production will be curtailed and the war effort slowed down. Reports reaching our committee from other cities of the country show that Warren county women have failed to grasp their opportunity to back up their menfolk in the armed forces. It is not only the patriotic thing to do but the women will be well paid while they are turning out munitions and supplies for their loved ones at the war front."

Mr. Andrews has had years of experience with Warren county industry and he knows whereof he speaks. At the present time a crisis is being reached in local war industry and seven plants right now are appealing for women workers. Most of the women will be needed within a short time, November 1st to be exact. Others can be added a little later but 300 are needed within 30 days.

Manager David Levine, of the Federal Employment office today said when seen by a Times-Mirror representative: "We are meeting a fine response at present and yesterday and today enrolled about 100 women for places in the plants while some others have taken the application blanks home to discuss the matter in their own home circle. However that is only about one-third of what we will need before Nov. 15th. And the end of the demand will not be reached then as I know from discussing the situation with manufacturers that there must be about 600 women available for employment before December 15th. The draft is asking great inroads into the ranks of Warren county workers."

In bulletin No. 153 of the U. S. Department of Labor attention is called to the fact that women are working in all but 30 of the various trades allied with the war effort. The WLB has upheld the contention that equal pay for equal work should be the rule in all plants where women are engaged in work and it is also drawn to the attention of the women that they must abide by the stabilization orders the same as men.

Yesterday a number of women employed out of the city signed up for work in Warren plants. They can secure availability certificates to transfer to home town plants and many will do so as their savings on board and room, car fare, etc., will give them an advantage in working in Warren. The fact that many spend much time getting to and from work is also entering into their calculations and it is anticipated that many of the 300 women now working in Corby will come home and take places here where they are so drastically needed.

Home Town Honors General by Doubling Bond Sales

Emporium, Pa., Birthplace of Lt. Gen'l McNarney, Brings Him Back for Giant Birthday Party—Sales on War Bonds Boom as Tribute to Community's No. 1 Hero

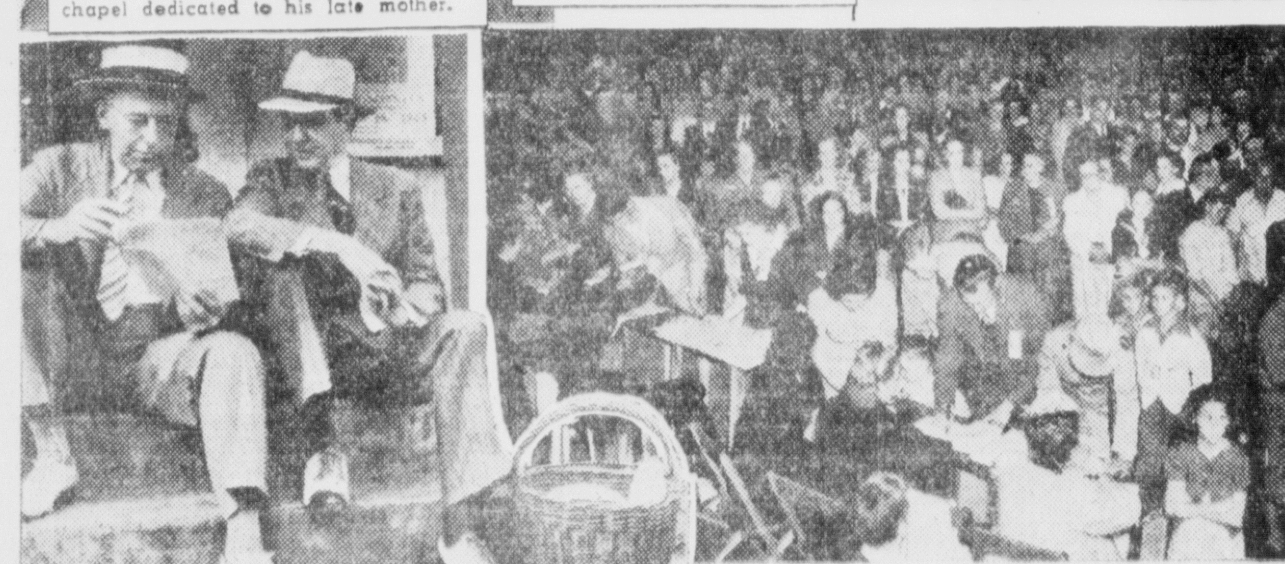

News-worthy feature of the street parade was the sight of the deputy chief of staff of the U. S. Army marching with his first military outfit, the Boys' Brigade, in which he was a sergeant in 1908.

A quiet interlude in the General's homecoming was a visit to the Sunday School chapel dedicated to his late mother.

Back in the old red brick school-house General McNarney found the very desk where, 35 years ago, he carved the initials J.M.

Hundreds of autograph books bearing the signature of the army's deputy chief of staff will become cherished mementos.

An informal last-minute sidewalk conference between District Attorney Ed Tompkins, chairman of the Gen'l McNarney Day Committee, and B. G. Erskine, chairman of the board of Sylvania Electric Products, the town's major industry.

In tribute to their home-town hero, the 3,900 residents flocked to a bond rally closing the celebration, and doubled their pledge by buying $103,568 worth of War Bonds.

EMPORIUM, PA.—Joseph T. McNarney was born here 56 years ago. Now a Lieutenant General and deputy chief of staff of the U. S. Army, he was invited home for the biggest birthday party in the history of Emporium. Every store in town was closed while the entire population of 3,900 paraded, listened to talks and band-concerts and showed their pride in the "home town boy who made good" by buying War Bonds. By midnight the town had doubled its pledge by chalking up bond sales of $103,568.

General McNarney revisited his old school room, and members of his first military unit, a Boys' Brigade Company, with which he marched after reviewing the parade. He addressed a record crowd and signed autographs until his wrist ached. Advised of the tremendous bond sales at the birthday party tendered him at the executive clubhouse of the town's chief industry, the Sylvania electric radio tube plant, the General told his townfolk: "You couldn't have given me a nicer birthday present."

The extra sales, added to the substantial sum obtained through the company's payroll deduction plan, helped make Cameron County first county in the Third Federal Reserve District to pass its quota.
